Removal of the Winnebagos---War Opened Between Them and the Sioux---Their Scalp Dance---Better Days for Minnesota.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Fort Snelling, Minn., Saturday, May 16, 1863.

Generally monotonous as is the face of the Western country, the contrast is striking when you launch upon the Upper Mississippi, with its tireless succession of lofty peaks and rounded heights, its labyrinth of deep valleys descending from the back country, its groves of stately trees along the bottom lands, and then for miles its mural bluffs of limestone, two hundred feet in height, like colossal ramparts, darkly reflected in the glassy surface beneath. The intersection of the valley of the Minnesota with that of the Mississippi, with Fort Snelling frowning down upon it; the waterfall of Minne-ha-ha, and the tiny cascade of Minne-iska—scenes of idyllian beauty: and the falls and rapids of St. Anthony are highly attractive features of the Upper Mississippi scenery, and come almost within one sweep of the eye.

Forty years ago, far out in the "vast howling wilderness," this fort was built. Its massive masonry, rising from half way up the high, rocky bluff, on the two river sides, makes it an imposing structure when seen from the valley of the Mississippi or the Minnesota, whose waters roll together at its feet.

As a defence to the region round about, its day has long passed. As a military rendezvous for this State, however, its position is central and convenient. For this purpose it has been used by the General Government during the past two years, and since the Sioux began their war upon the white settlers its importance as a military station has increased.

The first five regiments of Minnesota Volunteers are in the war at the South. The First, in the army of the Potomac, is the oldest three-years' regiment in the service. The other five regiments will remain in this State till the difficulties with the Indians are ended beyond a fear.

The great Southern rebellion so absorbs the public mind, that many are not aware of the magnitude of operations now in progress in this quarter, which, in ordinary times, would attract the attention of the whole country.

An expedition to thoroughly conquer the Sioux Indians and achieve a permanent peace with them, is the one great momentous affair to Minnesotians. It is now nearly ready to move. It comprises the Sixth, Seventh and Tenth regiments of Minnesota, (all full regiments,) the Third Minnesota battery, and the First regiment Minnesota Mounted Rangers, (rifles,) enlisted last season for the Indian war only. Two hundred and fifty teams accompany the forces. The commanding officer is Brig.-Gen. H. H. Sibley, who has had long experience with the Indians. He has command of the Military District of Minnesota, which is in the Department of the Northwest, under Maj.-Gen. Pope, headquarters at Milwaukee.

The Sioux number about 12,000, of whom nearly 5,000 are warriors, under Little Crow, who was at their head last season. They are encamped near Devil's Lake. About 2,000 have firearms; the rest bows and arrows and war-clubs. Gen. Sibley thinks they will fall back toward British territory as the expedition advances. Several fighting encounters, or else one desperate and bloody battle, seems inevitable before a final reckoning can be had with them.

The Ninth Minnesota regiment remains at Fort Ridgely, to protect the southwest border, while the Eighth is at Forts Ripley and Abercrombie, on the northern border, with four companies of mounted riflemen.

The Chippewas, inhabiting the Red River country in the North, have been friendly, until lately doubts are thrown upon them by the murder of three of our soldiers in their locality, which is not yet otherwise accounted for, and by other disturbances which they certainly have been guilty of. They will be looked to the first thing. If the forces on the northern border are not sufficient to keep them in check, the expedition will take them in hand on its way. It is desirable, for the certainty of safety—hence, for the prosperity of the State—that the Chippewas should be removed, as well as the Winnebagos and Sioux. The Winnebagos are already cleared out; by the time this will be in print, the last of that work will be accomplished. The history of this tribe, for their present generation, is one of periodical exodus. In 1841 they were sent from their native home in Wisconsin, to Iowa; in 1848 removed to Northern Minnesota, where they were alarmingly dissatisfied. In 1855 they were placed on their reservation, near Mankato, one hundred miles from St. Paul, where they have vegetated in contentment until now. They were very loth to leave their last place of abode. Many had improved small farms, and appeared to be approaching civilization. They have had better advantages than other tribes, and some education has been diffused among them during the past twenty years. But a single incident, which occurred a few days ago, shows how easily all this is upset when a chance offers for the display of genuine savage nature. Two Sioux (with which tribe they have hitherto been at peace) were murdered by them, probably in hope of getting into favor with our people, so they might be allowed to remain on their reservation. A Sioux who had married a Winnebago squaw, and lived among them, told his squaw he was going to tell his people of it. He was overtaken by a party of Winnebagos, who killed him, tore out his tongue, hung it on a pole, and paraded the streets of Mankato with it, signifying it was for an intended offence of the tongue that he had been killed.

The Winnebagos, once a powerful tribe in Wisconsin, now number 1,500 men, women and children. Five hundred were brought down day before yesterday, and encamped here, below the fort, for a change of steamers. They had with them the scalps of the two murdered Sioux, stretched to two hoops. The scalps contained all the hair of the head, including the ears, with two large rings in them; the inside was painted red. A piece of skin had been stripped the entire length of one arm, reaching down to the fingers, with the finger nails on. These grim trophies were suspended on poles, and during the day fifty or more performed the scalp dance around the poles several times, each demonstration lasting half an hour or longer. It was joined in by women and children, at the same time bellowing, wailing and groaning hideously, accompanied by continual beats in perfect time, on drums made by stretching coon-skin over one end of a keg. It was their conception of music. Many were gambling by games indescribable; some playing "euchre," (there was no gambling done with cards,) some few selling curiosities to the great number who had come from St. Paul and other places to see them; some other few poking over each other's hair with their claws, slowly and with cat-like watch, for small game. Many bore in their faces that sort of resignation to their fate, which looked like confirmed, though subdued desperation. The Chiefs Little Hill and Good Thunder were with them. I cannot reduce to English orthography the Winnebago names of which the above are translations. Winneshiek, heading a few hundred who refused to sell to the Government their lands in the reservation, and stood out against being removed, have thought better of it, finding they would soon be compelled to start. They will be brought down here in a few days. The rest have reëmbarked on the steamer for Hannibal, Mo. Thence they are to go by rail to St. Joseph, and from there by steamer again 450 miles up the Missouri, to their new reservation, near Fort Randall, in Dakota Territory. The new habitation, designed by Government for the Sioux when they are brought to terms, is in the same neighborhood, and when the latter get there they will have a wide field for the settlement of their differences, if they keep out of reach of Fort Randall. Four hundred of the condemned Sioux prisoners were sent up three weeks ago. They are of the same lot with the thirty-nine who were executed last Winter. Eleven hundred friendly Sioux have been taken from here since then, for the same destination, belonging to the party which, having taken no part in the massacres, finally turned against the warring Sioux, revealed them in some places, and brought many white captives into our camp. Two hundred of the same party are retained here at the fort, to go with the expedition as scouts. They and the Winnebagos were separated by a mile, and both kept under guard while the latter were here.

The two tribes have lived peaceably near each other, their lands not being far apart, until the tragedy between them already alluded to. The Sioux have forfeited all right to their grounds by taking up the hatchet against the settlers last August. Both reservations will soon be in the market for the highest bidders, on condition of actual settlement. There is not a more fertile and eligibly situated tract of land in the State than either of these reservations. That which belonged to the Sioux contains 710,400 acres; that of the Winnebagos, 207,360 acres.

This is a new era for Minnesota. A bright future opens for her. Ten months since an immense agricultural region of unsurpassed fertility was, in large part, owned by savages, and all of it at their mercy. The Sioux and Winnebagos then numbered 13,060. Now the Southern half of the State is practically clear of them. A few small straggling families are all that can be found between the Iowa line and the Otter-Tail River.

Not until the haggard curse of Slavery be lifted from their land will any Southern State be in a condition so nearly similar as to appreciate what Minnesota feels to-day.

From the demoniac torture and butchery of more than five hundred men, women and babes in their homes and in the woods, out of that frightful holocaust of blood and flame which swept over the Minnesota frontier last Autumn, there grow this Spring the flowers of peace, promise and lasting safety.

Another Order from Gen. Burnside.

THE FAMILIES OF REBEL SYMPATHIZERS.

Headquarters Department of the Ohio,
Cincinnati, Ohio, May 18, 1863.

General Orders No. 70.—1. The intention of that portion of General Orders No. 66, from these headquarters, relative to the "removal of wives and families of persons in arms against the United States," being merely to remove from this Department those persons who, from their intimate relations with the enemies of the Government, would be presumed to exercise an active sympathy with the rebellion, and would therefore be dangerous as residents, and as arbitrary arrests, or notices to remove, might occasion suffering and injustice, it is hereby ordered that in all such cases the proper officer having cognizance of the facts will forward to these headquarters a written statement of the circumstances before he takes any further action.

2. As the experience of the Department has shown that cases exist where the persons to whom General Order No. 66 refers are, notwithstanding their close relationship to the enemies of the country, still loyal to the Government, and are willing to testify it by taking the oath of allegiance, such persons, when there is evidence of the honesty of the intention of the parties in taking the oath, will not be molested.

The Twelfth Regiment at Home.

Syracuse, Thursday, May 21.

The Twelfth New-York regiment of volunteers, raised in Onondaga, returned to-day from the war, and were welcomed by the citizens of Onondaga County with appropriate ceremonies, festivities and rejoicing. The Fifty-first regiment and the firemen of Syracuse turned out in large numbers to greet the war-worn veterans. An address of welcome was made by Mayor Bookstaver, and was responded to by Col. H. A. Weeks at the armory. They were also addressed in Washington Park by Hon. T. G. Alvord, and Col. H. A. Barmem responded. Buildings, public and private, were beautifully decorated, and the streets were spanned by arches of evergreen. A grand supper was given by the citizens in the evening at the Voorhies House in their honor.

The National Finances.

Philadelphia, Thursday, May 21.

Jay Cooke, the subscription agent, reports the sale of $1,906,400 five-twenties to-day, in the following localities: New-York and New-Jersey, $856,000; Boston and New-England, $465,000; Philadelphia and Pennsylvania, $261,000; Baltimore, $110,000; Ohio, $81,000; Illinois, $75,000; Maryland and Kentucky, $10,000; Western States, $48,000. The reports of agents throughout the country are of the most cheering character, and new districts are daily added to the local lists, as the details of the loan are fully understood and its object appreciated.

The Union Leagues of Western Pennsylvania.

Pittsburgh, Thursday, May 21.

The Union Leagues of Western Pennsylvania have been very active for the past few days. Meetings have been held in Pittsburgh and vicinity, Washington, Canonsburgh and other places, addressed by Judge Shannon, who has recently returned from the East. The order has received many accessions from Democrats, who sympathize with the Judge in his loyalty to the Union.

THE SIEGE OF VICKSBURGH.

THE WAR ON THE MISSISSIPPI.

Interesting Letter from a Soldier.

The following extracts from a private letter written by a soldier in Gen. McArthur's division of Gen. Grant's army, have been handed to us for publication. The letter is dated Lake Providence, La., April 16:

"Last week we received a visit from Gen. Thomas, Adjutant-General of the United States army. He came to enunciate and put in practice the avowed policy of the Government in regard to arming the negroes. The troops of this division assembled at Gen. McArthur's headquarters, where Gen. Thomas made us a speech. He came to authorize the raising of negro regiments, and to issue commissions to the officers of the regiments. The commissioned officers are to be all white men. We also heard speeches from Gens. McArthur and McPherson and a few others; it was a very enthusiastic meeting, and it reminded me of the times when I used to attend political meetings and hear stump speeches. Three colored regiments are being raised at this point. Their ranks are filling rapidly. There have already been over twenty regiments organized in this State, and they will soon be full, and you will understand that we have only operated along the Mississippi. This is the great movement of the war, and the future already begins to look brighter before us.

You have read in the papers about our Lake Providence canal before this time. I was on the ground when the levee was cut and the water let into the canal. The adjacent country is many feet lower than the river; the men only cut a channel four feet wide at first, but within twenty-four hours it had made itself a channel of a hundred yards in width; it is a bend of the river where the current strikes the bank with great force, and of course it rushed through the gap with almost frightful velocity. The water has been running nearly a month, but the current still flows with unabated strength and velocity. Full one-third of this State is inundated and completely depopulated in consequence of it. In a camp like this there are incidents occurring daily which will be interesting to you, and I will tell you a few of them. About five miles from camp is a large plantation owned by a man who was Major in a guerrilla band. His wife remained at home unmolested by our troops. One night about four weeks ago he came home to visit his family, and was accompanied by thirty of his band. Their horses were put into the stables, and the men occupied a large log house that was built for a granary. After all was quiet, one of his negroes came into our camp with the intelligence of their arrival, and offered to conduct a party to the place to capture them. Fifty men were immediately dispatched under the guidance of the negro. They arrived at the place about an hour before day-break. The rebels were so unsuspicious of danger that they had no sentinels posted to give the alarm, and the negro conducted the officer who commanded the party—with a few of the men—into the house, when he lighted a candle and led them into his master's room, where they found him sleeping soundly. They awakened him and took him along. Meanwhile the rebels in the log house had been alarmed by the barking of a dog, and found that they were in a trap, and prepared to defend their position. They could fire their carbines at our men, through the spaces between the logs, with deadly effect, without danger to themselves. The Captain sent into camp for a piece of artillery, which was promptly furnished him. They fired a shell at the building, which struck the ground close by and made the bark and splinters fly from the logs, when it burst. Before they had time to reload the rebels hung out a white flag, and surrendered unconditionally. They were brought into camp, horses and all; they were a hard looking crowd I assure you. The negro was handsomely rewarded, and our General got him a fireman's berth on one of the steamers.

The First Kansas regiment, of which I have spoken before, is encamped near us. One of the members of that regiment, a Sergeant, died in the hospital two weeks ago. After death his comrades discovered that their companion, by the side of whom they had marched and fought for almost two years, was a—woman. You may imagine their surprise at the discovery. I went to the hospital and saw the body after it was prepared for burial, and made some inquiries about her. She was of rather more than average size for a woman, with rather strongly marked features, so that with the aid of man's attire she had quite a masculine look. She enlisted in the regiment after they went to Missouri; and consequently they know nothing of her early history. She probably served under an assumed name. She was in the battle of Springfield, where Gen. Lyon was killed, and has fought in a dozen battles and skirmishes. She always sustained an excellent reputation, both as a man and a soldier, and the men all speak of her in terms of respect and affection. She was brave as a lion in battle, and never flinched from any duty or hardship that fell to her lot. She must have been very shrewd to have lived in the regiment so long, and preserve her secret so well. Poor girl! she was worthy of a better fate. Who knows what grief, trouble or persecution induced her to embrace such a life?"

Gen. Rosecrans on Slavery.

From the Cincinnati Catholic Telegraph.

Murfreesboro, Monday, April 27, 1863.

My Dear Father Edward: The rebels grabbed the last letter I wrote you, but they will draw very little consolation from its contents. * * * I am happy to see the splendid stand you took in the Telegraph against Slavery, with its horrors, barbarities and base immoralities. Slavery is dead. Nothing can resuscitate it. To learn this fact fully, you should pay us a visit. There is not a negro in the South who does not know he is free. Around here they have squatted on the plantations, and refuse to work for any one but themselves. They have sown little crops of their own, and the masters have ceased to exercise any control over them.

As an indication, I will cite a strong case. The lady of the house where I am staying attempted to punish one of her negro women this morning. I had to step in to save the mistress from being badly used up, as the darkey was belaboring her with the stick intended for her own punishment. "Ex uno disce omnes." It is needless for me to say that I applaud every sentiment you have expressed in the Telegraph. Your course is that of the prudent navigator, who, watching the black speck on the horizon, sees it expand into a portentous storm, and calls up his crew to take in sail and prepare for a contest with the elements. The storm will pass away, and you will be found sailing under full sail, while those who took not heed will be scattered by the gale. * * * I am heart and hand with you in this cause. Slavery is doomed, and those who would now uphold it will be held up in a very short time to public odium and execration. No statesman will vindicate it, no friend of human progress will stretch forth a hand to break its fall, no lover of humanity and religion will grieve for its overthrow. I have lived long enough in the South to see its workings, its disgusting features, debasing the higher principles of our nature, warring with religion, and patronizing vice and immorality. Almighty God has certainly ordained its destruction in this country, where it has been more offensive and immoral than in any other, and until it is utterly extinct, this war cannot, from the nature of things, cease. I am in favor of a cessation of hostilities at as early a day as possible; therefore, I am in favor of the President's Proclamation. This State was made for white people and free labor, and when Slavery no longer blights its borders we may expect to see the church and the school-house take the place of the slave-pen and market.

THE BLOCKADING SERVICE.

Arrival of the Supply Steamer Union—Capture of a Prize.

The supply steamer Union arrived yesterday, having completed the round of the blockading stations. She left New-York April 8, with supplies for the South Atlantic and East and West Gulf Blockading Squadrons, and stopped at the following places: Port Royal, New Inlet, Key West, Charlotte Harbor, Tampa Bay, Cedar Keys, St. Mark's, East and West Pass of St. George's Sound, St. Andrew's Bay, St. George's Bay, Pensacola, Mobile, Ship Island, Pilot Town, New-Orleans, Baton Rouge, Port Hudson, Sabine Pass and Galveston, returning direct from Key West, which port she left May 15. She has 50 prisoners and a number of discharged seamen on board. After leaving Mobile on May 9, the forward engine broke down, and since then she has used only one engine; and only with the help of fair winds was she enabled to reach this port in safety. While in lat. 26° 33′, lon. 84° 89′, the Union captured the British schooner Linnett, having a valuable cargo on board. She is a noted blockade runner, and at the time of her capture was on her fourth voyage. On the afternoon of the same day, between 3 and 4 o'clock, Acting Assistant Paymaster Warner, formerly of the U. S. gunboat Kineo, jumped overboard while laboring under mental aberration. A boat was immediately sent to his assistance, and he was picked up, but life was extinct. He was buried at sundown with the usual honors.

The Union brings, as passengers, Lieut.-Commander Reigart B. Lowry, of the United States gunboat Sciota; Acting Master Z. W. Williams, of the Fear-Not; Acting Assistant Paymaster R. Manning, of the iron-clad Essex; Second Assistant Engineer H. Cox Hull, of the steamship Mississippi; Captain's Clerk C. Petite, of the steamship Sciota; N. Murphy, of Key West.

The following are the officers of the Union:

THE NEW GUNBOAT MINGOE.

D. S. Mershon, at Bordentown, has got the new and substantial gunboat Mingoe, so far advanced toward completion, that it will be launched about the middle of June. It is constructed of very solid timber, and is 240 feet in length, 35 feet in breadth, and 12 feet hold. The sides above the water are to be iron-clad sufficiently to protect the men on deck. It will be armed with heavy ordnance and have a rudder at each end.

PURCHASE OF AN OCEAN STEAMER.

The Navy Department will purchase to-day for conversion into a man-of-war, the ocean steamship Black Stone, which belongs to Spofford, Tileston & Co. The executive officer of the Navy-yard, Capt. Fillebrown, and Chief Engineer Garvin, inspected her yesterday. The Black Stone is rated a 1½ on the American Lloyds, is 935 tons burthen, has a horizontal engine 48 inches in diameter and 2 feet 4 inch stroke. She was formerly employed as a transport for the Government.

PURCHASE OF THE PRIZE STEAMER ARIES.

The prize steamer Aries, which was condemned in the United States District Court, Boston, on Saturday last, has been taken by the Navy Department for a vessel of war, at an appraisement of $100,000. The appraisers were R. B. Forbes and E. S. Tobey, Esqs., and the Chief Engineer and Naval Constructor at the Navy-yard, who were appointed by the Court, by the consent of all parties. She is an iron steamer, built at Sunderland, England, only one year old, very fast, with powerful machinery, and 611 gross tonnage, English measurement.

Alleged Rebel Project for the Reinvasion of Maryland and Pennsylvania.

The Philadelphia Inquirer of yesterday morning gives prominence to a communication from Baltimore, stating that C. B. Barclay, Esq., of Pennsylvania, has been in close counsel with the highest authorities there, in reference to an expected invasion of Maryland and Pennsylvania by the rebels. It says:

"Mr. Barclay returns to Washington on important business, after which he proceeds immediately to Harrisburgh, to confer with Gov. Curtin upon matters of weighty moment touching affairs in Pennsylvania. He is fully alive to the importance of his mission, and of his State losing no time in the organization of her militia, that she may be in readiness to meet any emergency. All the signs of the times, and very many indications, visible only to those who see behind the curtain, in the arena of Secessionism, tend to show that the Confederates will, if they can, invade Maryland and Pennsylvania this Summer. To prevent such a calamity we need only be prepared in time to repel it. The matter is one of great seriousness, and no time should be lost in giving to it prompt, energetic consideration.

FIGHTING NEAR SUFFOLK.

Skirmishing With the Rebels on the Blackwater.

Surprise of a Detachment of the First New-York Mounted Rifles.

LIST OF CASUALTIES.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Suffolk, Va., Sunday, May 17, 1863.

The enemy, since their retirement from our front, have concentrated a considerable force on the line of the Blackwater, and in the vicinity of Smithfield.

An expedition under command of Col. (acting Brig.-Gen.) Foster, left here last Wednesday for Carsville, about four miles from Blackwater. Several skirmishes of some importance have occurred, and the enemy have been driven back about two miles. The enemy have suffered considerably from two of our best batteries. We have lost some men belonging to the One Hundred and Seventieth regiment, and the Sixth Massachusetts. No correct report can yet be forwarded. The expedition has another object, which should not at present be mentioned, as Gen. Foster's command will probably remain in their present position several days.

Yesterday three companies of the First New-York mounted rifles, under the superintendence of Gen. Dodge, reconnoitered in the neighborhood of Isle of Wight and Smithfield. Two companies of this party, under command of Major A. G. Patton, pursued a small body of rebels toward Broadwater Bridge and captured six cavalrymen and a mail from Norfolk. They were returning to Suffolk with their prisoners, when suddenly and without a moment's warning the rear guard was attacked by a large body of rebel cavalry, and forced back to the reserve. The rebels charged upon our column, throwing Company F for a short time into confusion. Several rebels rode past our whole column to its head, and seemed to direct all their attention to our officers. A hand to hand conflict ensued. Major Patton was shot in the side by a rebel officer, who was in turn shot by Lieut. Burton, and instantly killed. Lieut. Burton received a sabre cut in the mouth and breast, and had his horse killed under him. He is not seriously injured.

Capt. Hamilton and Lieut. Harmon fought with their sabres. The officers did their utmost to rally the men. It seemed for a short time that our two companies would be annihilated—but the rebels having discharged their firearms, and not having time to reload, could not use their sabres very skillfully against ours. Major Patton withdrew to a field with what remained of his men, and checked the rebels by some sharp rifle practice. Several of our men were injured by falling through a bridge. Our men, upon the whole, behaved splendidly, considering how abrupt was the attack. There were several exhibitions of individual daring of the highest quality. Sergt. Hearn, of Company A, remained on the field last night, the rebels having retreated as fast as they came, leaving some of their dead upon the field. Sergt. Hearn buried a rebel Lieutenant and some privates this morning, together with one of our men—Melchor, of troop F. The enemy recovered their prisoners in our hands, and captured about ten of our men, who were wounded or thrown from their horses. As the rebel force nearly doubled in numbers that of ours, it is astonishing that our loss was not greater. Some of our missing men are expected to return, having, it is believed, escaped into the woods.

The following is a list of our killed and wounded:

Major A. G. Patton, wounded in shoulder and side—neither wound dangerous.

Orderly-Sergt. McGee, of Company F, sabre cut in the head—not dangerous.

Corp. Heron, Company F, wounded and a prisoner.

Private Heineman, Company F, sabre cut in head—not dangerous.

Private Melchor, Company F, killed.

Private Norton, Company A, wounded in leg.

Several others of our wounded are in the hands of the enemy.

It is reported that Dr. Harlan, of the Eleventh Pennsylvania cavalry, was captured, near Carsville, yesterday.

An Unfortunate Mistake Near Franklin.

Correspondence of the Philadelphia Inquirer.

Fortress Monroe, Va., Tuesday, May 19, 1863.

Passengers on the train that left Suffolk at noon to-day report that a sad accident befell two of our regiments this morning, at a place known as Deserted House, which is about eight miles beyond Suffolk. Two by-roads branch off the South Quay road, and upon each one regiment was advancing. These were the Eleventh Rhode Island and One Hundred and Fifty-second New-York Volunteers. As the roads near each other they form a short angle that diverges between, and upon which there is a dense undergrowth.

Across this intervening strip of land the two regiments could but imperceptibly discern each other. One regiment mistook the other for rebels in ambush, and at once opened a galling fire. This was replied to with all the ardor for which the Union troops are characterized. Before the mistake was discovered much mischief had been done. Both regiments suffered to a considerable extent, and it is to be hoped that a subsequent version will throw a more favorable light upon this sad affair.

DEPARTMENT OF NORTH CAROLINA.

A Brilliant Cavalry Dash—Capture of Prisoners—A Sub-Division of the Department—The Rebels Building Iron-clad Gunboats and Floating Batteries—A Negro Regiment.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Newbern, N. C., Friday, May 15, 1863.

We have nothing very stirring in the way of active operations, except the brilliant cavalry dash made by a detachment of the Third New-York Cavalry near Young's Cross Roads, resulting in the capture of a part of a company of the enemy's cavalry force, stationed in that neighborhood, including thirty horses and twenty prisoners. The expedition was under the command Lieut.-Col. Lewis.

The Department of North Carolina has been divided into districts. Gen. Naglee has the District of the Neuse, with his headquarters at Beaufort. Gen. Wessells has the District of the Albermarle, with his headquarters at Plymouth, and Gen. Prince has the District of the Pamlico, with his headquarters at Washington.

The three districts are being put in a complete state of defence, and guns of large calibre are being mounted. Since the siege of Washington was raised the place has been strongly reinforced, and everything is ready for the enemy, who are expected back since the unfortunate turn of affairs on the Rappahannock.

We learn, by way of Washington, that the enemy are constructing a large iron-clad gunboat on the Tar River, a short distance below Tarboro, and it will be quite a formidable affair—some two hundred feet in length. The same informant states that there are three gunboats at Richmond,—one named the Richmond, the engine of which is not very strong; one called the Ladies' Gunboat has just been launched, paid for by subscriptions of the ladies,—and they have one on the stocks not launched.

Above Plymouth, on the Roanoke River, they are building a formidable floating battery. By Fall or Midsummer the intention of the enemy is to force the evacuation of Washington and Plymouth by large forces by land and water. We learn that Gen. Prince, at Washington, is placing matters in such trim that it will be a very hazardous undertaking for the enemy to attack that place. Gen. Prince is a most thorough and accomplished soldier, and most critically examines everything he takes hold of. Gen. Foster is most fortunate in having such efficient men as Naglee, Palmer, Prince and Wessels around him. Compelled to act on the defensive in the Department of North Carolina, from the small number of men in his command, it is impossible for Gen. Foster to do more than strengthen and fortify his positions,—which is being most thoroughly done.

It is rumored that a negro brigade will be immediately organized in this Department. It is said that Col. Wild, of one of the Massachusetts regiments will have command of the brigade. The terms of the nine months' men expire in the Summer, and the Government must provide for the loss of those men soon. The lines have been completely closed, and vegetables are very scarce. Fears are entertained that the scurvy will break out among the troops. The regulations are very severe, and much suffering must ensue, particularly at Washington and Plymouth, where articles of food are difficult to be obtained.

THE DRAFT.

The Enrollment to Commence Immediately.

A Heavy Force Employed to do the Work.

THE DISTRICTS DESIGNATED.

A List of Officers.

The requisite preparations for the commencement of the business of enrolling in the district assigned to Col. Robert Nugent, A. A. Provost-Marshal-General, have been completed by that officer, and as soon as the Government blanks arrive from Washington the work will immediately begin. The blanks are looked for daily, and in all probability it will not be later than next Monday that the people liable to be drafted will be called upon to give their names. The same parties employed by the former Provost-Marshal—Gen. Draper—have been retained by Col. Nugent. In addition, a large number of assistants have been appointed, so that as little time as possible may elapse—say one month—ere the work shall have been finished. The business consequent upon the enrollment in connection with other business dispatched at the office of the Provost-Marshal will, for the next few weeks, cause arduous labor in that Department. The known ability of Col. Nugent, however, is a warrant that he is equal to the task, and many of the officers and clerks under his command have already proved their efficiency. As an evidence that the officers connected with the Provost-Marshal's Department are faithful and vigilant it is only necessary to state that, on an average, twenty arrests are made daily. The parties arrested include numerous citizens who have exhibited ample proof that they are either Southern spies or Southern abettors. It seems to have become a ruling passion of many to embark in the contraband trade. Only three days ago a man was arrested for fitting out a schooner with an assorted cargo for some secesh point. It is known that vessels for the rebel South have cleared from this port, but of late the business has become rather precarious, and probably it will not be long before that class of traders will be completely broken up. In order to meet the exigencies of the time, Col. Nugent has appointed a force of detectives, whose duty it will be to travel in different portions of the Department of the East and arrest all parties found aiding and abetting the enemy.

The Department over which Col. Nugent has control under the Enrollment act comprises the first nine Congressional districts, as follows:

First—Suffolk, Queens and Richmond Counties, L. I.

Second—Sixth, Eighth, Ninth, Tenth, Twelfth, Fourteenth, Sixteenth, Seventeenth and Eighteenth Wards of Brooklyn, the towns of Flatbush, Flatlands, Gravesend, New Lots and New Utrecht, L. I.

Third—First, Second, Third, Fourth, Fifth, Seventh, Eleventh, Thirteenth, Fifteenth and Nineteenth Wards of Brooklyn.

Fourth—First, Second, Third, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth and Eighth Wards of New-York, and Governor's Island.

Fifth—Seventh, Tenth, Thirteenth and Fourteenth Wards of New-York.

Sixth—Ninth, Fifteenth and Sixteenth Wards of New-York.

Seventh—Eleventh and Seventeenth Wards of New-York.

Eighth—Eighteenth, Twentieth and Twenty-first Wards of New-York.

Ninth—Twelfth, Nineteenth and Twenty-second Wards of New-York, Randall's and Blackwell's Islands.

The following are the officers appointed for the Districts, the first name under each District being that of the Provost-Marshal, the second the Commissioner, and the third the Surgeon:

First—Capt. Edwin Rose, Jamaica, L. I.; W. S. McConn, Dr. John Cadtmeoux.

Second—Capt. Samuel T. Maddox, No. 26 Grand-street, Williamsburgh; Charles W. Cheshire, Dr. Geo. S. Woodman.

Third—Capt. S. D. Gregory, No. 259 Washington-street, Brooklyn; Abner M. Beebe, Dr. Nelson L. North.

Fourth—Capt. Joel Erherdt, No. 271 Broadway; Daniel McFarland, Dr. James O'Rorke.

Sixth—Capt. James W. Farr, No. 185 Sixth-avenue, New-York; Charles A. Lamont, Dr. J. W. Powell.

Seventh—Capt. Frederick C. Wagoner, No. 63 Third-avenue, New-York; Boardman Baldwin, Dr. J. R. Von Kleek.

Eighth—Capt. Benjamin F. Manierre, No. 1,184½ Broadway, New-York; Spencer Kirby, Dr. G. F. Woodward.

Ninth—Capt. Charles E. Jenkins, No. 677 Third-avenue, New-York; John M. Sands, William H. Thomas.

The following officers have been appointed to assist Col. Nugent: Major Joseph O'Neil, Sixty-third New-York regiment; Capt. James B. Turner, Gen. Meagher's Staff; and Lieut. Berger, Forty-ninth New-York regiment.

The Enlistment of Colored Troops.

A LETTER FROM GOV. TODD, OF OHIO.

Gov. Tod, of Ohio, has written a letter to J. M. Langston, Esq., in which he makes the following points regarding the enlistment of colored troops:

1. That the Government is desirous to obtain all the colored troops that can be raised.
2. That the pay, bounty, clothing and terms of enlistment will be the same for colored troops as for white troops.
3. That authority has been given by the Government to Gov. Andrew, of Massachusetts, to recruit colored men for the Massachusetts brigade from all the loyal States.
4. That, as it is uncertain what number of colored men could be promptly raised in Ohio, I have advised and still do advise, that those disposed to enter the service, promptly join the Massachusetts regiments—thus securing to the Government the services of colored men much earlier than if the attempt were made to get up regiments in each loyal State.

Having requested the Governor of Massachusetts to organize the colored men of Ohio into separate companies, as far as practicable, and also to keep me fully advised of the number, with the name, age and place of residence of each, Ohio will have the full benefit of all enlistments from the State, and the recruits themselves the benefit of State Association to the same extent, nearly, as if organized into a State regiment. In addition to the benefit before recited, I believe that the State of Massachusetts pays an extra bounty of $50 to each recruit who may join the Massachusetts brigade. No such provision is made by the laws of Ohio.

I am glad to know that you are devoting your best energies to the work of raising troops for this brigade and trust your efforts may prove highly successful.

MOTIONS.

Alderman Mitchell moved that the memorial of Samuel Donaldson in relation to the subject of cleaning the streets, presented this evening, be printed in all the Corporation papers.

Which was carried.

OFFICE OF THE CLERK OF COMMON COUNCIL,
No. 8 CITY HALL, May 21, 1863.

At a meeting of the Board of Aldermen held this day, the following was received and directed to be printed in all the Corporation papers.

D. T. VALENTINE, Clerk.

NEW-YORK, May 21, 1863.

To the Mayor, Aldermen and Commonalty of the City of New-York:

The undersigned, Samuel Donaldson, of the City of New-York, respectfully represents to your Honorable Bodies as follows:

That on the fifteenth of December, one thousand eight hundred and sixty, Daniel E. Delavan, City Inspector, under and in pursuance of resolutions adopted by the Board of Aldermen and Board of Councilmen on the thirteenth of December, one thousand eight hundred and sixty, and approved by the Mayor on the fifteenth of the same month, advertised for sealed proposals for cleaning the streets and avenues of the City of New-York, for a term not exceeding five years."

That the eleventh section of said advertised proposals was in these words: "Section eleven. The Comptroller shall semi-monthly draw his warrant in favor of the contractor for a proportionate amount of the total sum of the contract as awarded by the Mayor and Common Council."

That on the twenty-sixth day of Feburuary, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-one, the contract having been awarded to Andrew J. Hackley, according to the aforesaid advertised proposals, was reduced to the form of an agreement and executed by him on the one part, and by the Mayor, Aldermen and Commonalty of the City of New-York, by Daniel E. Delevan, City Inspector, on the other part, and also by the Mayor of the City under its corporate seal.

That the amount so awarded as compensation to the contractor and inserted in said agreement was two hundred and seventy-nine thousand dollars for each and every year during the period of five years; "the same to be paid by the Comptroller of said City, drawing his warrants semi-monthly, for a proportionate amount thereof (eleven thousand six hundred and twenty-five dollars) in favor of said contractor.

And the undersigned further state, that the work and labor required to be done under said contract, was commenced in the month of March, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-one, and has been performed under the immediate direction, or subject to the approval of Daniel E. Delavan, City Inspector, up to the sixteenth of May, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three, and to the satisfaction of said City Inspector, as evidenced by his requisitions, as hereinafter stated, for the semi-monthly payments upon the Comptroller of the City.

That the amount earned for work and labor actually performed under said contract from its commencement on the first of March, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-one, to the said sixteenth day of May, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three, amounts to the sum of six hundred and twenty-seven thousand seven hundred and fifty dollars; that of this sum there has been paid by the Comptroller of the City, on the requisitions of the City Inspector, the sum of five hundred and eleven thousand five hundred dollars, being a balance due for work and labor actually performed under and in pursuance of said contract prior to said sixteenth of May, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three, of one hundred and sixteen thousand two hundred and fifty dollars; that of this last mentioned sum the City Inspector has given to the contractor his requisitions upon the Comptroller of the City to the amount of eighty-one thousand three hundred and seventy-five dollars, and which the Comptroller of the City has utterly refused to pay in whole or in part; that the amount due and owing for work and labor actually performed under and in pursuance of said contract prior to said sixteenth day of May, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three, and for which the City Inspector has not given his requisitions, is thirty-four thousand eight hundred and seventy-five dollars; but for a part of the said last mentioned sum, to wit; eleven thousand six hundred and twenty-five dollars, the said City Inspector withheld the requisitions to satisfy certain alleged liens thereon filed in his office under one of the provisions of said contract, and not on the ground that the work and labor had not been performed in pursuance of it, entitling the contractor to a requisition.

And the undersigned further represents that he is the assignee of said contract itself, and that he is vested, under irrevocable powers of attorney and agreements, with full authority to work, control, manage and perform said contract, in like manner, in all respects and to all intent and purposes as the original contractor did, could or might have done:

And that the undersigned, as such assignee and attorney in fact, has been engaged in good faith ever since the First day of November, One thousand eight and sixty-two, in making and performing said contract according to all its terms and provisions, and to the satisfaction of the City Inspector, evidenced by his aforesaid requisitions given to the undersigned as proof, and the only proof required to be given to entitle him to the prompt payment by the Comptroller of the City of the semi-monthly installments of eleven thousand six hundred and twenty-five dollars each, but the undersigned states that the said Comptroller, upon various pretexts and pretences, has, since the fifteenth day of January, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three, refused and still refuses to pay one dollar on any of the aforesaid requisitions of said City Inspector, although that officer is made and constituted the sole judge of the fact whether the contract has been so performed as to entitle the contractor to his semi-monthly payment of eleven thousand six hundred and twenty-five dollars.

And the undersigned further represents that said Comptroller at one time set up as an excuse for not paying said requisition that the Legislature had not passed what is generally known as the annual "Tax Levy;" at another time that he would not pay because he did not think the work had been performed, although the City Inspector had certified to him that it had been performed according to the contract; and at another time, after the annual Tax Levy of one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three had been passed by the Legislature, that he did not then mean to pay another dollar for any work performed under said contract upon any requisition which the City Inspector (the head of the City Inspector's Department of the City) might sign, that he was determined that the contract should be broken up.

And the undersigned further represents, that, notwithstanding the persistent and determined hostility of the said Comptroller, he has performed the work and labor required by said contract, and was engaged in the performance thereof up to the said sixteenth day of May, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three, when the said City Inspector, as he alleged, under an order of the Board of Health, or of your Honorable Bodies, took unlawful and forcible possession of the streets and alleys, wharves, piers and avenues embraced in said contract, and undertook to perform the work and labor specified in the same.

And the undersigned further represents that in consequence and by reason of the refusal of the said Comptroller to pay any of the requisitions aforesaid, for actual earnings aforesaid, certified by the City Inspector, as above stated, the undersigned has been compelled to advance large sums of money out of his own means to pay laborers and employes under said contract; and for the same purpose to raise other large sums upon his individual responsibility; that he advanced and raised these large sums of money because the laborers and employes were dependant upon their weekly earnings for their support and the support of their families; and because he could not bring himself to believe that the said Comptroller could, or would, refuse to pay the aforesaid requisitions, after the Legislature should have actually passed the appropriation of two hundred and seventy-nine thousand dollars specially to meet the outlays required by said contract.

And the undersigned further represents, That he is willing and able to perform said contract according to all its terms and requirements, and hereby expressly offers to perform the same according to its terms and provisions, in good faith, and to the satisfaction of the City Inspector, Provided the Mayor, Aldermen and Commonalty of the City of New-York shall, in like good faith, perform their part of the said contract, and shall cause their Financial Officer to make the payments semi-monthly, as he is required and bound to do by the very terms of the contract itself.

And the undersigned remonstrates firmly, but respectfully, against the act of the said City Inspector in usurping illegally a power and a work vested in the undersigned, under and by virtue of said contract, in manner aforesaid.

And the undersigned further remonstrates against the appropriation, use or application, of any part of the moneys appropriated by the Legislature to meet and pay the two hundred and seventy-nine thousand dollars mentioned in said contract to any other purpose or use whatever, and especially against the use of any part or portion of that money to pay laborers or employes, employed or hired by the City Inspector, under his illegal and usurped power of doing any work embraced in said contract, or under any resolution or resolutions of your honorable body, giving or pretending to give to him power to draw on said Comptroller for any part of said two hundred and seventy-nine thousand dollars, or giving or pretending to give to said Comptroller power to pay to said City Inspector any part of said two hundred and seventy-nine thousand dollars, for any purpose or on any pretence whatever, other than for the purpose of meeting the payments due, and to become due, to the undersigned, for work done and to be done under and in pursuance of said contract, which is still in full force, and binding and obligatory upon the said Mayor, Aldermen and commonalty of said City.

And the undersigned further represents that there is still due and owing to laborers, employes and sub-contractors under said contract, about the sum of forty-five thousand dollars; that this sum is due to parties whose support and the support of whose families are dependent on the results of their daily labor; and the withholding by the said Comptroller without just cause, and without the color of law, of so large a sum as forty-five thousand dollars, has brought upon hundreds of poor families in this City the greatest distress, privation and alarm: That the undersigned has already suffered great and serious losses and damages in consequence of the acts and refusals of said Comptroller, and the act of said City Inspector in ejecting him without legal or competent authority, from the performance of the work under said contract; but that the undersigned can wait the slow redress which the law may give him for his personal losses and damages in the premises. Not so with the laborers and employes, (whom the undersigned hired, confiding as he did in the good faith of the Corporation of the City of New-York,) they cannot thus wait. Their families are demanding bread, and they ought to receive at once the just rewards of their labor. In view of all the foregoing facts, without waiving any of his legal rights or any of his legal and first claims and demands against the Corporation of the City of New-York for heavy losses and damages already incurred, and which may be incurred by the undersigned in the premises aforesaid; and in view of the immediate wants and necessities which are pressing with great severity upon the families of hundreds of honest and hard-working men; and with a strong desire to avoid the expenses and delays incident to litigations with the Corporation of the City of New-York, the undersigned proposes, by way of compromise of all existing claims, to surrender said contract to said Corporation for cancellation.—Provided, and on condition that said Corporation shall, within thirty days from the date hereof, cancel the bond given to said Corporation by the sureties of Andrew J. Hackley, and release and discharge said sureties from all claims and demands whatsoever; and shall also within said thirty days cause to be paid to the undersigned all the requisitions heretofore signed by said City Inspector, embracing all work performed prior to May fifteen, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three, and also within said thirty days shall cause to be paid to the undersigned the additional sum of one hundred and forty five thousand dollars, to enable the undersigned to pay advances and loans of money and debts and liabilities actually incurred for and on account of said contract; and the undersigned hereby distinctly states that said proposal is made by way of compromise only, and that if it is not accepted and carried into effect by the Corporation of the City of New-York within thirty days from the date thereof, the same and every part thereof shall be null, void and of no force or effect whatever.

And the undersigned, in case of the non-acceptance of his aforesaid proposal, by way of compromise, within said thirty days, will reserve and insist upon all his legal and equitable claims and rights, and for his just compensation for heavy damages and losses, incident to and growing out of the repeated breaches and defaults of the Mayor, Aldermen and Commonalty of the City of New-York, its officers, agents and servants, in not performing the covenants in said contract on their part to be performed; in withholding the payment of the aforesaid large sums of money most justly due for actual earnings and labor done under the contract to the satisfaction of the City Inspector, and so certified by him; and finally in usurping, without any cause and without color of law, and in direct defiance of all the vested rights of the undersigned, guaranteed by said contract, the possession of the streets and avenues of the City, and undertaking to oust and eject the undersigned therefrom. All of which is respectfully submitted.

SAMUEL DONALFON,
Assignees of Hackley Contract and Attorney in fact of A. J. Hackley.

An Order of Arrest Cannot be Sustained Where the Facts Upon Which it is Based are Upon Mere Information and Belief.

SUPREME COURT—CHAMBERS.

Before Justice Leonard.

Hans D. C. Satow et al. vs. Anthony Reisenberger, imp'd, &c.—This was a motion to vacate the order of arrest holding defendant to bail in $44,000.

The affidavit of Frederick W. Meyer, the agent of the plaintiffs, set forth on information and belief, that the defendants who composed the firm of Sonza Reisenberger & Co., of Bahia, Brazil, were indebted to the plaintiffs, who compose the firm of David Satow & Co., of London, in the sum of $23,000 and upward, arising from the conspiracy of the defendants with Mathias J. Albers, Master of the Peruvian bark Maria, by means of false bills of lading of several hundred bags of coffee, on which advances were made to the above amount; that in order to conceal the fact that the coffee had not been shipped, the vessel was scuttled by the Captain near the Azore Islands, and that the defendant had absconded from Brazil with a large amount of money.

The affidavit of Peter H. Berndes, one of the plaintiffs, sworn to before the Mayor of London, after reciting the manner of the indebtedness, and the intelligence received in London of the loss of the vessel, and that the underwriters refused to recognize any liability, alleges that he "has caused inquiries to be made, and has ascertained from a copy of the manifest of the said ship Maria, taken at the Custom-house at Bahia, (which is not annexed, nor its absence accounted for,) and from other sources, (which are not stated,) that the coffee called for by the bills of lading was not shipped, and that the defendant had absconded from Bahia in an American whaling schooner, and was believed to have taken a large sum of money with him."

The motion to vacate the arrest was made upon the original papers, several points being raised by Mr. Averill, defendant's counsel, as to their sufficiency.

First—The order of arrest did not contain any time or place in the body of it, when or where returnable.

Second—It was not subscribed or indorsed by the plaintiff's attorneys.

Third—A true copy of the original order, as it now appears, was not served upon the defendant.

Fourth—The summons is for a money demand on contract, and the affidavits and undertaking show that the action is in tort for damages.

Fifth—The entire affidavit of Meyer is upon information and belief, and the sources are not stated. So, also, the affidavit of plaintiff is on information and belief, as to the fraud and conspiracy, and the sources are not stated, and the copy of the manifest referred to is not annexed.

Sixth—All the parties to the action are foreigners, and the fraud, if any, was committed in a foreign country, and an arrest cannot be sustained under our laws.

Seventh—The bail is excessive; the claim being but $23,000, and the bail $44,000.

Judge LEONARD granted the motion this morning, and wrote the following opinion:

"Not one of the facts constituting the fraud is within the personal knowledge of the persons upon whose oath the order of arrest has been made. The statements of the fraud are on information only. An arrest cannot be upheld on such proof. The order is vacated, with $10 costs of motion.

Horatio F. Averill, Esq., for the motion; Messrs. Platt, Gerard & Buckley, opposed.

Insurance Case.

NEW-YORK COMMON PLEAS.

Before Judge Brady.

Chas. T. Raynolds et al. vs. The Hope Fire Insurance Company.—This was an action upon a judgment which had been rendered in the St. Louis Court of Common Pleas against the defendants in favor of one James Spore, who afterward assigned the judgment to Raynolds, Devoe & Pratt, the plaintiffs in this action.

The defendants set up several defences—that the Missouri Court never acquired jurisdiction over them in the action in which the judgment had been recovered; that the cause had not been properly tried; and several other matters going to the merits of the original cause of action.

The Judge held that, in an action upon the judgment here, the defendants could only put in issue the jurisdiction of the Court rendering the judgment, but not the merits of the judgment, and that as to the various matters alleged in the answer as to the issuing of the policy, its cancellation, its subsequent disappearance, proof of loss, payment of premium, &c., they having been submitted and passed upon by the Court and jury in St. Louis, no issue could be raised upon them here; that the proceedings in Missouri were binding upon the parties until set aside by the Court where the trial was had or reversed on error; that the record was prima facie evidence of jurisdiction, and would be held conclusive until clearly and explicitly disproved, and that no such proof had been made.

Judgment was rendered for the plaintiff for $4,042 65 and costs.

Jenkins, Opdyke & Ackerman for plaintiffs; Payne & Cambreling and P. Y. Cutler for defendants.

THURSDAY, May 21—P. M.

The Stock Market recovered its buoyancy of temper, to-day, although before the early Board some of the Street operators, following up their change of position last night, were sellers at a further decline in prices. At the Board it was soon apparent that the orders to buy greatly preponderated, and the New-York road shares were especially firm. The Western Roads were somewhat irregular on the first call of the list, but these sympathized, later in the dealings of the day, with the recovery in New-York Central and Erie, and nearly the entire Share list at the Second Board was firm in tone and upward in prices. The reaction was probably made the sharper to-day from the circumstance that a considerable short interest was made last night and this morning. It was also assisted by the improved facilities afforded by money-lenders in making up the Bank accounts of the Brokers. We heard but few complaints today on this score. There has, at no time, been a scarcity of idle means at Bank, and with private lenders; and the trouble earlier in the week was caused by the immense volume of business on the Stock Exchange to be settled for between the hours of 1 and 2 o'clock at enhanced prices, the rapid advance of which, for several days, partially staggered confidence. This trouble is now at least quieted, if not removed, not so much by the decline in prices yesterday, as by the elasticity shown by the market to-day. The fluctuations of the last day or two have not affected the bidding for Government 6 ₩ cents of the old issue or the demand for Treasury paper, nor checked in the slightest degree the subscriptions to the New Loan of 1882, a security which, after all, is relatively the cheapest and most reliable for the employment of Money of all selections on either the Bond or Share list now on the market.

At 4 o'clock, after the Second regular Board broke up, the prices at the Public Board and also on the Street, were higher, and the demand generally buoyant. The following figures were made as compared with Wednesday night. The number of speculators on the Street, and in and around the offices of the Commission Brokers, appears to have suffered no diminution from the temporary breakdown of yesterday. The rise on the printed sales of the Second Board is from 1 to 3 ₩ cent. on several of the active Railways:

Late in the day, Gold Coin suddenly advanced to 150@150½ ₩ cent.; attributed to unfavorable rumors from the army of Gen. GRANT. Previous to this, Exchange had sold down to 163½ @163½ ₩ cent., but the market then improved to 164@165 ₩ cent. The business for Saturday's mail will mostly be done to-morrow. We hear of no important export demand for Gold. Money is 6@7 ₩ cent. to the Stock Brokers.

The subscriptions to the New United States Loan of 1882, paid in at the Treasury Office in this City to-day amount to $1,537,050. The Customs are $106,000. The New-York balance of the Treasury Department is $26,702,786. The subscriptions to the New Loan continue to keep the receipts rather in advance of the disbursements of the Office.

The transfers of the Hudson River Stock will close on Monday week, June 1, and reopen on Tuesday, 9th of the same month, the day after the annual meeting of the Company for the election of Directors. Some few changes in the Board are spoken of to bring in a representative or two of the new and heavy interest recently acquired in the stock.

The arrivals of emigrants from Europe this week are unusually numerous for the month of May. Many of the Liverpool sailing packets come in with 600 or 800 each, and the Dale and other steamers with equally large numbers. The bulk of the emigration is from Ireland.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE REBELLION.

Gen. Grant telegraphs to the War Department from Jackson, under date of the 15th inst., that that place fell into his hands on the day previous, after a fight of about three hours. Gen. Joe. Johnston was in command of the rebel forces, which retreated northward, evidently with the design of joining the forces at Vicksburgh. Gen. Grant in this dispatch says nothing about burning the State Capitol, or of his intentions in regard to holding the place.

We have an account, from our Suffolk correspondent, of affairs in that portion of Virginia. The rebels still have a considerable force on the Blackwater, and skirmishes occasionally occur. The rebels have been driven back about two miles recently. On the 16th inst., two companies of the First New-York Mounted Rifles, returning from a reconnoissance, were attacked by a superior force of rebel cavalry, and suffered pretty severely.

Gen. Butler has been ordered to report to headquarters in Washington, and is expected to arrive there to-day.

The business of enrolling for the draft in the first nine Congressional Districts of this State will commence as soon as the requisite blanks have been received by Col. Nugent, A. A. Provost-Marshal. The officers for each district have been appointed, also numerous assistants to facilitate the proceedings.

The supply steamer Union arrived at this port, yesterday, from the blockading squadron. On her passage here, in latitude 26° 36′, longitude 84° 89′, she captured the British schooner Linnet blockade runner, having a valuable cargo on board. The schooner was on her fourth voyage to run the blockade.

Two daughters of John Bell, of Tennessee, recently came through our lines to some of their friends in Philadelphia. It is stated that upon their arrival in that City, they were completely amazed at the indications of abundance and prosperity everywhere evident.

GENERAL NEWS.

The steamship North American passed Father Point yesterday, on her way to Quebec, with news from Europe oyne day later. Politically it is unimportant.

The steamship Borussia, from Southampton on the 4th inst., arrived at this port late last night. Her news has been anticipated.

At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen yesterday a resolution by Mr. Long, requesting the Mayor to revoke the license held by the Hazard Powder Company for a powder magazine near One Hundred and Tenth-street and Eighth-avenue, which is sometimes used for storing large quantities of powder, and also requesting the Mayor to revoke all similar licenses now in force, and a resolution by Mr. Farley, of the like purport, in reference to the cartridge manufactory at the foot of Seventy-eighth-street, were both referred with the view of having an ordinance reported prohibiting powder magazines from having locations any where in the City. Mr. Donaldson, the Hackley contract assignee, sent in a statement of the course of affairs concerning the contract since its origin and up to the present time, and closing with the offer, as his final terms of compromise with the City, to sell the contract on payment of the requisitions due and unpaid up to May 15, and an additional sum of $145,000—the offer to be accepted within thirty days. If the offer should not be accepted within that time, Mr. Donaldson says he will sue the City for damages on a breach of the contract in failing to pay semi-monthly, as required by its terms. The paper was referred to the Finance Committee. The Ferry Committee were directed to report what action is necessary to compel the lessees of the Weehawken Ferry to give the public more accommodations in the way of running boats than they now do. The resolution from the other Board, requesting the Mayor to convene the Board of Health, was laid over. Adjourned to Monday next at 5 o'clock P. M.

In the Board of Councilmen, a resolution by Mr. O'Brien, directing the Finance Committee to report the draft of an ordinance to create a fund of $1,000,000, to pay the commutation of $300 each for poor men in this City who may be drafted under the Conscription act, was referrred to the Finance Committee. A duplicate of Mr. Donaldson's statement and offer in relation to the Hackley contract and its abrogation, as presented in the Board of Aldermen, was received, and Mr. Jones, the President, addressed the Board at some length on the subject. He believed the contract had been but imperfectly carried out, and that the City Inspector, for purposes of his own, was desirous of having exclusive charge of the work of street-cleaning. In any aspect of the case, poor men would have to suffer, unless the Common Council bought off the contractor, and carefully watched the course of the City Inspector, which, he thought, was the best plan that could be pursued, as otherwise the workmen under the City Inspector and those employed by the contractor would be unable to get their pay for some time to come. The National Affairs Committee of this Board were instructed to render a report in detail of their expenditures since the first of January. A communication was received from the Corporation Counsel, giving the opinion that the power of the Commissioners of Health is only advisory, and that the executive authority for directing the City Inspector to clean the streets, in view of any apprehension of danger to the public welfare from neglect of cleaning them, rests in the Board of Health. Adjourned to 5 P. M., on next Monday.

A meeting of the Excise Board was held yesterday afternoon, at which the Clerk was instructed to notify applicants for licenses to affix revenue stamps to their papers as required by law; and also to request the Board of Supervisors to allow the Board to publish the Excise notice in several daily papers during the session of the Board. The Board meet again to-day at 1 P. M.

About 100 recruits for the Seventh Maine regiment arrived here yesterday, en route to join their comrades in the field. A company of regulars also came by the Stonington Line, intended for one of the regiments now in the service.

The iron-clad Galena passed into Hampton Roads on Monday morning, from her station at the mouth of the James River. She goes to Philadelphia for repairs. This vessel has been on the blockade for thirteen months.

The editor of the Leavenworth, Kansas, Times was arrested by Mayor Anthony, a few days since, for publishing an editorial criticising Gen. Hooker severely for his recent failure. He was fined $20 and costs, and in default of payment was committed to prison. Subsequently he was released on a writ of habeas corpus.

The Stock market recovered its buoyancy yesterday, and the speculation in the Railway shares was again strongly upward at the close of the day. The elasticity of the market in recovering from the flurry of Wednesday, gave improved confidence to the money lenders, and the Brokers were better accommodated at 6@7 ℔ cent. Gold rose in the afternoon to 150@150¼; Exchange, 164½.

Breadstuffs were more abundant and less active yesterday, closing at drooping prices. Provisions, Sugars, Molasses and Tallow, and Lard Oil, were in more request at essentially unaltered rates. Petroleum was brisk and buoyant. Heavier sales of Cotton were effected, but at reduced figures. No important changes occurred in other articles. The freight market was inactive.

The Future of Southern Trade.

The notion that the grass would grow in Broadway, if New-York lost the Southern trade, on which the Pro-Slavery partisans used to rely so much in their appeals to Northern baseness and cupidity in old times, has at last been thoroughly disposed of. The hardiest plant in the American fauna has never had less chance of supporting life on Broadway than at this moment. The rush and roar of traffic, the hot haste of thriving trade, were never more unmistakeably manifest than now. There are no more planters at the St. Nicholas or New-York Hotels; the keenest-scented "runner" cannot discover a Southern dealer anywhere in the City; Hambleton himself might stalk abroad, pencil in hand, and find not a single merchant or huckster to whom his smiles or his frowns would be of the least consequence; and still we live and flourish. Even the dry goods men, who, more than any other class, were ready to endure anything that Southern insolence might have in store for them, sooner than reveal a shred of conscience or of self-respect, have never made so much money as this year. The delusion that twenty millions of the most industrious, ingenious, energetic people in the world, with half a fertile continent to toil on, were dependent on the custom of 300,000 Southern farmers, most of them living in a very rude and simple way, to save them from ruin, has at last been effectually exploded. The North had during the last twenty years many humiliations to undergo, but we doubt if there has been one of them half so mortifying as the general prevalence and great influence which this transparent humbug and deception once enjoyed.

The school of politicians who were mainly instrumental in creating and fostering this delusion, are now busy in spreading another, quite as transparent; and if it have so far worked less mischief, it is because it has had less time and opportunity. The Northern farmers and manufacturers are now assured that if the war result in the extirpation of Slavery, and the reorganization of Southern society, the South would be irretrievably ruined as a market for their goods and produce. The direct opposite of this is the truth, both as history and political economy teach it. At the present moment, only four of the Southern eight millions are worthy of being considered consumers of anything but the coarsest and commonest necessaries. It is only the white population that purchase anything except as much coarse cotton or woolen rags as will cover their nakedness; and of these only a very small proportion purchase anything worthy of the name of luxuries. The poor whites require somewhat better clothes than the slaves, a little powder and shot, and a good deal of whisky; the 300,000 slaveholders create all the demand that exists for furniture, or silks, or fine linen, or cotton, or ornaments, or carriages, or meat, (except pork,) or watches, or, in fact, any of a thousand other things which, though not amongst the essentials, are, nevertheless, at the North, within the reach, or in the possession, of nine-tenths of the population.

The first effect of the abolition of Slavery would be precisely what the effect of the overthrow of a small, privileged and wealthy caste has been in every other country—to diffuse amongst the many the comfort previously enjoyed only by the few; what the effect of the downfall of the aristocracy has been in France; what the effect of the gradual growth of Democracy is in England, and what the effect of the abolition of serfdom will be in Russia. There would be no longer, in all probability, a single "mansion house," as luxuriously furnished, or as luxuriously lived in, as some forty or fifty are at this moment, or rather were, before the war began; but then no negro of the four millions would be worse clothed or worse fed, or would live in a worse house, or have less furniture than he does now; while the vast majority would acquire fresh wants of all kinds, and would find the means of gratifying them.

There is no probability of the black population being exterminated; and as long as they are in existence they can not, if freed, diminish one iota of their present expenditure for the supply of their personal wants, without either starving or going entirely naked, an alternative which they are not likely to embrace. No people of any race in the habit of attaching any importance to dress,—and the negroes are notorious for attaching a good deal,—can possibly do with less than one suit of the cheapest cotton or one of the cheapest woolen, and one pair of raw-hide brogans every year; nor can they live and work on plainer diet than hog and hominy. The same thing may be said of the poor whites; so that any change that emancipation would effect in the habits of the mass of the Southern population, would inevitably tend in the direction of an increase of personal comforts, an improvement in houses, furniture, and clothing, and an increased demand for luxuries and the implements of labor.

That this would pretty surely occur we know, from what is progressing before our eyes in the West Indies. In the emancipated Islands the great planters have disappeared and sunk into insignificance or poverty. The estates, if cultivated at all, are not so well cultivated as formerly. There is no elegance and no great luxury to be seen anywhere, but the negroes eat better food, wear better clothing, and use better furniture than they ever did before. They have, in short, the wants, and appetites and tastes of poor freemen in every country.

The natural consequence of this is, that the exports from all of the islands, except Jamaica, have fallen off; but the imports have largely increased, and do steadily increase every year. In other words, less is raised from the soil, but a vastly greater proportion of what is raised is consumed by the men who raise it—and the surplus, which was formerly exported to be spent in riotous or luxurious living by the planters in Paris and London, now comes back to the islands in English and American goods, which the cultivators now call for, but which slaves could not need, and would not be allowed to have. In short, it is the planters and sugar dealers who are disgusted with the results of emancipation; the English cotton manufacturers and ironmongers have not a word to say; for to them the West Indies are now a vastly better market than ever they were. In short, there is no law of trade so well established as that consumption depends not so much on the amount of wealth in a country, as on the manner in which it is distributed; or on the extent to which the majority are provided with the means of gratifying their desires. An aristocracy enriches often tradesmen in a great capital; but to create a steady, increasing market, there is nothing like a population of small proprietors, eager to better their condition.

Rebels Banished from St. Louis.

The Government has been driven, at last, to the policy of deportation of rebels from Missouri. One day last week, a steamer left St. Louis for the South, having on board about forty rebel citizens who had been banished from that City, and condemned to make their abode in the Confederacy till the end of the war. If they return to the North they will be liable to be treated as spies under the military law.

We recognize in the published list many names of citizens who have been distinguished in times past by the confidence of the General Government, and by the general respect of the community in which they have lived. One was formerly Sub-Treasurer at St. Louis, another Receiver of the Land-Office, and a third Postmaster. In the list was a school director of many years' service, a doctor of twenty years' practice; and the wife of another physician, who is himself in the rebel service, and the daughter of a millionaire of St. Louis.

It will be seen from these facts that there has been no respect of persons in the administration of this severe discipline in Missouri. All who suffer are persons of influence and means. And it is because they are influential and wealthy, in fact, that their presence within the Union lines is not considered compatible with the public peace and safety. We learn from the St. Louis papers that the cases wherein there was any relenting were those of parties comparatively obscure and moneyless.

It is impossible to deny the exact justice of this decree of banishment. The only thing to wonder at is the long-suffering and forbearance of the Government toward citizens who have so openly opposed, contemned and hated it. We have spoken of them above as rebels. This is the true description of the banished persons. It is too mild a phrase to style them sympathizers with the rebellion. They are as much rebels as Claib. Jackson, Price or Marmaduke, save in this respect—that they remained within the Union lines, and did not dare bear arms.

But their hearts were with Price at Lexington, at Springfield and at Pea Ridge. At each they wished him victory. They communicated with him on every opportunity, and gave him encouragement and hope—telling him that Missouri's heart was with the South, and needed only his presence to rise and throw off the odious authority of the United States. This political affiliation with the Southern Confederacy was not concealed, but open. It was not worn silently, but offensively and boastfully. If Price could have reached St. Louis with a Confederate army, they would have hailed his coming with shouts, and would have aided him with supplies, men, muskets and money. They have never affected to deny that they wished, prayed for and expected the triumph of the rebels in Missouri. It is amazing that the loyal element in Missouri tolerated so long the presence of persons at once so disloyal and dangerous.

At the time of the late raid of Marmaduke in Southeast Missouri, there was a new and violent demonstration of sympathy with the rebel cause on the part of this class of persons in St. Louis. They renewedly expressed their conviction that Gen. Price would soon be there to deliver them, and they boasted of their wines and their meats wherewith they meant to feast him on his coming. The military authorities appear to have been driven by these last manifestations to the reluctant duty they have just performed.

It is not possible to associate this action of the military in Missouri with any of the cases of the so-called "arbitrary arrests" that have excited so much comment and opposition in other quarters. The persons banished from St. Louis were not sent away for criticising or threatening to disregard military Department orders, nor for opposing and denouncing the policy of the Government or its mode of conducting the war. There might be a margin with many who do such things for ultimate loyalty. But these were banished for being wholly and utterly at war with their Government on any basis, or under any Administration, save that of Jeff. Davis, whose authority they hoped to see established over the Confederacy and then over all the States. Such men are rebels in the gravest and grossest sense of the word, and without a provision even of redeeming loyalty. The South is the proper place for them.

Our Lesser Wars.

Our correspondent at Fort Snelling on the Upper Mississippi, furnishes rather a surprising idea of the magnitude of the military operations being carried on under Gen. Pope against certain Indian tribes of the Northwest. Of the ten regiments of Minnesota Volunteers raised for the war, five only are operating against the slaveholding rebels of the South while five are employed against the savage rebels of the farthest North. A military expedition, consisting of three full regiments of infantry, a regiment of mounted rangers, and a battery of artillery, all under the immediate command of that old Indian fighter, Gen. Sibley, is about to move from Fort Snelling, to begin war in earnest against the Sioux Indians, who are charged with keeping Minnesota in a condition of disquiet, and the settlers in a state of terror, for some time past. The Sioux have 5,000 warriors encamped near Devil's Lake, in the northwestern part of Minnesota, not far from the British line, and they are under command of the chief Little Crow, whose name will be remembered in connection with the Sioux massacres of last Summer. This is a larger force than that of the whites who have gone out to attack them; but the superior military appliances of the whites will, of course, give them a vast advantage. About two thousand only of the Indian warriors are said to be possessed of muskets, while the majority are armed with bows and arrows and war-clubs. A desperate battle, or series of battles, is expected very soon, unless, as our forces advance, the Sioux retreat to British territory, where it would be impossible for our troops to follow them. They would thus play the part of the insurgent Poles, who lately fled across the frontier into Prussia, where the Czar's soldiers could not pursue them. Should the Sioux adopt this expedient, it would be well, both for them and for us, if, when they get across the lines, they would stay across. For it is a noteworthy and instructive fact, that in all the vast possessions of England in North America, with their tens of thousands of aboriginal Indians, there has hardly been an instance of any difficulty within any of them during the present century.

There are also rumors that the Chippewa tribe in the same State have assumed a belligerent attitude; and, indeed, it would appear from late news that nearly all the eighteen or twenty thousand Indians in Minnesota are in an uneasy condition, and the warriors ready for the war-path.

It is very painful to hear of these Indian difficulties. By justice, prudence, and kindness, they might assuredly all have been avoided. They have already taken from the war against the Southern rebels one-half of the military quota of Minnesota, and if the difficulties continue, the whole of the State's quota will probably be required for them. It is to be feared that the white settlers have incited the war from the same motives as have incited so many of our Indian wars—the lust of the Indian reserve lands. We think this appears from our correspondent's letters, though it is not explicitly stated. It is to be hoped that the Government will look into the matter at once, before the war commences; and if it can be stopped before it is begun, it will contribute as much to our honor as to our interests.

Rebel Resources and Rebel Lies.

The Richmond Sentinel characterizes the lies which floated about the North for a few days after Hooker recrossed the Rappahannock as "false and absurd beyond precedent." They were false and absurd enough, but the Sentinel need not have gone outside of the columns of the Richmond papers to find in their statements, in relation to the late battle, precedent enough, if that were wanting. The fifty guns captured; the ten thousand prisoners; the forty or fifty thousand muskets—"more than had been seen together at once since the war began;" the clothing and blankets scattered so thickly over the fields that the rejoicing rebels on the march had no need to burden themselves with equipage, being certain of an abundant supply to be had for the picking up wherever their halting-place for the night should be—all these were Munchausenisms of the first water.

The Northern Press has long ago proclaimed the falsity of the reports which were so hastily spread about Hooker's movements. But we have seen no admission from the Richmond Press of its sins in this regard. Now and then, however, a fact finds its way into its columns, which is enough to show to a reflecting mind what must be the truth in the matter. The fact that Hooker recrossed without the slightest molestation, the rebel loss in the battles of three Generals killed and five wounded, the loss by one North Carolina brigade, numbering less than three thousand, of nine hundred and five men in killed, wounded and missing, and other facts of the same sort cannot fail to have shown them that, though they boast a victory, it is, if not quite a fatal, certainly a barren one.

The remarkable article from the Richmond Enquirer, which we published on Sunday morning, shows by its despondent tone that the evils of the situation are beginning to press very heavily upon the rebel leaders. They know far better than we do, how nearly the rebel resources are exhausted. They have known for long that in the words of Col. Grierson, "the Confederacy is but a shell with nothing in it." Or, if any other proof is wanted, take the statement in the message of the rebel Governor of Texas, delivered last February, that out of ninety-five thousand five hundred men in that State between the ages of sixteen and sixty, all but twenty-seven thousand had taken their places in the ranks of the rebel armies. Now Texas has been farthest removed of all the States from the scene of active operations, and the rebel conscription has been as merciless in every other State as there. If the same proportion obtains in all the States, we are brought to the conclusion that two years have swept into the rebel ranks nearly three-fourths of the population of the South; yet her armies are not more numerons than they were a year ago. It needs but little figuring to show that the process can last but a short time longer, before the farthest limit is reached—the last man put in the field—the last shot fired.

Our resources are still abundant. Our population is not perceptibly thinned. We are still carrying on the struggle out of our superfluity. There remains for us then only the question whether we shall still go on; and the strong hearts of the people are answering that question with more stubbornness of determination every day. There were many among us, when the rebellion broke out, who would have been hopelessly discouraged, if they could have looked ahead two years and seen so much of turmoil still among us, so much work still to be done. But each day of postponement of that success which they desired, has made it more desirable and has made them more willing to tarry for it; and the voices of those who then were most sanguine of the speedy overthrow of the rebellion, are now the most determined that it shall be overthrown, though it take twenty years instead of two.

Maryland.

In an article, a few days since, we attempted to show the different positions in respect of Slavery as affected by the present war, of the three great Border States—Maryland, Kentucky and Missouri. We showed that secession had destroyed, in great part, the external commerce of these States which was based on the products of slave labor, and had also in great measure annihilated the value of their slaves as property.

In Missouri and Maryland, Slavery has practically no value whatever. It is a ruined interest—ruined and gone beyond hope, beyond redemption. In Kentucky it has received a mortal wound, but the general conviction of the fact has not yet fully settled upon the public mind. From Kentucky, therefore, we need not expect any immediate organic action for the removal of the remains of the institution.

From Maryland and Missouri we have a right to expect other action. The resurrection of Slavery in either of these States no reasonable man can look forward to. It is a moral as well as a political impossibility. Missouri comprehends the fact and is determined to act on it. The swift procession of days will soon bring us to the latter part of June, when a State Convention meets in Missouri, called expressly to consider the subject of emancipation. A general discussion throughout the State has has revealed no opposition to emancipation—none whatever. Not one voice, in any part of all its wide domain, has been raised against the inauguration of a policy which all feel to be inevitable, and all have come to desire. Before dog-days Slavery will be doomed in Missouri, and the very prairies and cities of the hemp-growing "Platte Purchase," which gave an Atchison and a Stringfellow to the Border Ruffian politics of the past, will be lit up with bonfires over the edict of Freedom for the State. And not without reason. For a few years only will elapse before Missouri will be filled to overflowing with labor and capital which Slavery has hitherto kept out. And, with the increase of population, agriculture, mining and manufacturing, of free schools, public improvements, Presses and general popular intelligence, Missouri will speedily take rank as one of the most rich, respected and powerful States of the Union.

How is it that Missouri proceeds in this way, and Maryland stands still, grieving over the dead past? Maryland has many sons in Missouri, and they join in Missouri's present policy, and will be enriched by its adoption. Why is it that Maryland lingers, laments, and does nothing, while the West moves on so promptly in the duty of the hour? It seems to us that the leading minds of Maryland are at fault. They refuse to discuss Slavery and emancipation—fearing with the old fear of thirty years ago that they may disturb the social order of the State! Time was when this fear was excusable. Abolitionism was once a horrid phantom to the Southern imagination. But secession has brought down the demon into the heart of the South. It raises its "cross-bones" flag over the Capital of Jeff. Davis' State, and South Carolina shudders to find the same frightful banner streaming over her renowned sea islands. Maryland need fear "Abolitionists" no longer. Her rebel sisters have made her familiar with all that the imagination ever conjured up in affright. And as to the fear of "disturbing the social order" by discussing emancipation in Maryland, it is idle to talk so. The State has two years been heaving with war and the Slavery agitation like a city rocked on the side of a volcano. The State has no social order—but social chaos. It has sought no agitation; but the South has, without consulting it, dragged it into the vortex of civil war, and overthrown its social order and its institution of Slavery.

It is time for Maryland, that has been the sport and prey of fortune in this mad war—that has suffered all the losses and humiliations consequent on having her great property interests wantonly and wickedly embroiled and ruined by the Secessionists—to rise and free herself from the phantoms of former prejudice, and take the course that will most quickly restore peace, social order and prosperity to her people. This can be done by renouncing and burying the dead body of Slavery, and accepting Free Labor, which is the energizing, God-given element that supports modern civilization. The people of Maryland will see and admit this duty to themselves and to the world, when their leading minds give them discussion and a policy.

Emigration.—Emigrants from Europe continue to pour into this port at an astonishing rate. For weeks past they have averaged a thousand a day. Thus far this year, we have had altogether forty thousand, or about three times the number that arrived in the corresponding period of last year, when the immigration was considered respectably large. As yet, the greater part of those who have arrived this year are from Ireland, though a fair proportion are from Germany, the other great European hive. They are attracted here partly by the demand for labor and the high wages laborers command. The general prosperity here also has enabled our foreign population to send larger remittances than usual to their friends in Europe, and thus facilities have been afforded the latter to emigrate. It is probable that after the Spring and early Summer influx from Ireland, a vast German tide will set hitherward. Tens and hundreds of thousands of people in Germany are anxious to come to America, attracted in great measure by the facilities for acquiring land under the Homestead Law. The Governor of Ohio has appointed a Commissioner to visit Germany, and invite the people of that country to remove to Ohio; and the fruits of this action will doubtless appear by Autumn.

There is a great demand for laborers all over the West, for farm work and mechanical employments. Even in New-England there is a desire to secure part of the emigration. The Springfield Republican says: "there is a great lack of laborers in that section, and is likely to be during the season. In the cities especially it is most impossible to hire a man to do a day's work; and we trust some of the new recruits will stop in this region."

It is certainly a remarkable spectacle to see people coming from all parts of Europe to settle for life in a country racked and torn by civil war. It is evident they at least have faith in the country's future. It is evident they are not affected by the ceaseless torrent of falsehoods about us poured out by the European, and especially by the British, Press.

Reminiscenses of Stonewall Jackson.

In the course of my journeyings as a correspondent, I have met with many old classmates and acquaintances of the late rebel Gen. Jackson, from whose lips I have heard much about him; and as everything pertaining to this remarkable man seems to interest the public, I will set down two or three anecdotes which have not yet found their way into the public prints.

Jackson, you know, was a graduate of West Point in the class of 1846—considered the most remarkable class that ever graduated from the Academy. McClellan, Couch, Foster, Reno, Seymour, Stoneman, and others equally or less distinguished, belonged to it.

While at West Point, he was regarded as decidedly dull and slow. It took him three times as long to learn his tasks as the average of the boys, but when he had them, he had them well. He was of a retiring and taciturn disposition, but whenever he spoke, his face would light up with a pleasant smile. At this period he used to fancy he had consumption, and was wont to sit bolt upright at his meals.

Illustrative of the difficulty he had in learning anything, I remember an anecdote of Gen. Seymour's. Seymour was, at that time, learning to play on the flute, and Jackson (they were young Lieutenants together) took it into his head that he also would learn. He went to the work with his accustomed vigor and perseverance, but he could not succeed in learning to play even the simplest air. He blew six months on the first bar of "Love Not," and then gave it up in despair. It is evident he had "no music in himself," and, if Shakespeare is to be believed, he was, in this respect at least, "fit for treasons, stratagems and spoils."

The story of his behavior at Chepultepec, I have seen given, but incorrectly. It is thus: Jackson was a lieutenant in command of Magruder's Battery. The Fourteenth regular infantry was ordered to charge up the road, but the fire was heavy, and the men seemed disinclined to advance. Perceiving this, Jackson stepped out on the road, amid the shower of missiles, exclaiming: "You see, my men, there is no danger, follow me!" Whereupon they immediately rushed forward to the charge.

At various periods of his life he was afflicted with different forms of hypochondria. One of his manias was to believe that everything he eat went down and lodged in his left leg! At another time he would never eat except by the watch, at the precise moment; and he would take out his watch, lay it on the table, and eat at that moment. If the meal was behindhand, he would not eat at all. Probably camp life cured him of these eccentricities.

Current reports have stated that Jackson was slovenly and rough in dress: in action or on the march not distinguishable from the common soldier. This, at least lately, since he came into high command, seems to be incorrect. In the manuscript diary of a rebel engineer officer—which we found at the Chancellor House, on our arrival, and now in my hands—among entries of the greatest interest and importance, extending over several months, I find the following portrait of Stonewall Jackson. It is, you will observe, a mere silhouette, but the picture is almost Carlylean in its touch.

March 25. * * * "About dinner-time Stonewall Jackson came over to make a visit to the General. I went out to ride and met him going away in the road between headquarters and Mr. Garnett's. He was sweeping along at an easy gallop on a large handsome bay. Passed so quickly that I had not time to distinguish his features; nothing in him to recall the caricatures which popular veneration has delighted to make of the popular hero; handsomely dressed in full general's uniform—a jaunty cap, a full black beard and a fine horse; altogether a rather dazzling vision for one used to our slovenly headquarters."

Jackson's mode of attack was peculiar, even in the tactical formation of his troops, and it was his own. He always threw his men in, in column of battalions, about a two company front, without skirmishers, resting on their colors, and with a yell peculiar to his men.

He was a gallant foe, and I have heard many an officer in the army declare he would like nothing better, if we only had this affair settled up, than to follow Stonewall Jackson into fight. His personal loss to the rebel cause is immense; but he has trained many able division commanders such as Early and the two Hills. W. S.

Union Meeting.—There is to be a Union meeting this evening at the corner of Twenty-third-street and Broadway. Rev. Mr. Frothingham and H. J. Raymond, Esq., are expected to speak. Special arrangements have been made for the accommodation of ladies.

A Tour of Observation and Research.—The pilot-boat Washington No. 4, in charge of Admiral M. Murphy, has sailed for Newport and New-London via the Atlantic, and will return via Long Island Sound. She has on board a delegation of gentlemen from Indiana, and Messrs. Boswell and Dantus, on a tour of observation and research.

NEWS FROM WASHINGTON.

A Draft to be Made as Soon as Possible.

Gen. Butler Ordered to Report to Headquarters.

The Rebels Despondent About Vicksburgh.

OUR SPECIAL WASHINGTON DISPATCHES.

WASHINGTON, Thursday, May 21.

THE COMING DRAFT.

Orders have been issued from the Provost-Marshal General's office to be prepared for making a draft immediately on the completion of enrollment. The hope is now expressed that the draft may be made before the 1st of July.

GEN. BUTLER ORDERED TO WASHINGTON.

THE RICHMOND WHIG DESPONDENT.

The Richmond Whig of yesterday has a despondent editorial admitting the decided langor of a rebel disaster at Vicksburgh, and adding that Richmond itself is not safe, if a serious attempt should be made to take it.

News from Vicksburgh is still awaited here with some anxiety, but nothing definite is known.

RUMORS.

The current rumors of a new combination, by certain radical Republicans, against the Secretary of State, are believed to be without foundation. It is supposed that they arise merely feom the presence here of Messrs. SUMNER, WADE, WILSON and CHANDLER, at what is regarded an unusual time. Mr. SUMNER has remained in Washington ever since the close of Congress, and Messrs. WADE, WILSON and CHANDLER came hither on the news of the late battle, their position on the Senate Military Committees giving them special interest in war matters.

THE RECENT NEGRO MEETING.

The President has been so much engrossed as to be unable yet to give formal audience to the Committee of the negro meeting praying for suitable protection for the negro soldiers against the course threatened in the rebel proclamations and sanctioned by the rebel Congress. It is not believed, however, that the interests of justice are likely to suffer in his hands. Prominent members of the Administration give assurances of Mr. LINCOLN's fixed intention to resort to the sternest retaliatory policy, to compel equal security for negro prisoners in rebel hands with that of our white soldiers.

THE STATE GOVERNMENT OF INDIANA.

The Administration has received notice that the State authorities of Indiana may be compelled to appeal to it for funds to carry on the State Government, the late CopperheadLegislature having left them without appropriations. An answer is understood to have been given that in the present crisis any interception or embarrassment of the duties of the State officers would be regarded as a calamity to be prevented at any expense or hazard.

DAMAGES IN MINNESOTA.

The first instalment of $20,000 has been sent to the Commission now in session in Minnesota, to award damages suffered from the late Sioux war, to be paid in sums of not over two hundred dollars to any one sufferer.

RESTORED.

In view of the strong provocation under which he acted, of his good character, and of testimonials in his favor, the President directs that Assistant Surgeon GEORGE S. LITTLE, Ninety-seventh regiment New-York Volunteers, sentenced to be dismissed for conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman in General Orders No. 41, dated headquarters, Army Potomac, April 11, 1863, be restored to his rank and office in the service.

APPOINTMENT.

ABRAHAM HYATT has been appointed Revenue Collector for the Tenth Collection District of New-York, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of HORACE DUEY.

DISMISSED.

By direction of the President, Major NATHAN EARLYWINE, Fourth Indiana Cavalry, has been dismissed the service for converting to his own use two Government mules.

The President has approved the sentence of the Court-martial dismissing from the service Capt. JOHN E. WILBUR, Third New-Hampshire Volunteers.

PAROLED PRISONERS.

Two thousand paroled prisoners, from Annapolis, came here to-night They will be quartered at the Convalescent Camp, Alexandria, until arrangements for their exchange are completed.

BEEF CONTRACT.

A contract for four thousand beef cattle for the Government has been awarded J. J. BANKARD, of Baltimore, at $5 80 per hundred pounds gross. These figures are considerably less than those of the last contract.

DIVORCE GRANTED.

The District Supreme Court to-day made a decision in the case of Gen. BRANNAN, granting the decree of divorce prayed by him from his former wife. Mrs. BRANNAN, it will be remembered, some years ago disaapeared mysteriously from New-York, and was supposed to have been foully dealt with, until it was discovered that she had eloped with an army officer and gone to Europe.

DEATHS OF SOLDIERS.

The following are among the deaths of soldiers reported to-day:

Warren Smith, Co. A, 4th New-York cavalry.
John De Witt, 27th New-York battery.
Dennis Avery, Co. E, 4th New-York artillery.

CAPTURE OF BLOCKADE RUNNERS.

The Navy Department has been officially informed that the United States steamer Octarara, on the 2d ult., captured the English schooner Handy, 18 tons burden, loaded with salt. She had on board a letter addressed to HENRY KRAUSS, No. 46 Chrystie-street, New-York, signed by JACOB J. HARRIS, of Nassau, stating that the Captain was going to Charleston, and if he should be captured and taken to New-York, he desired him to be furnished with what money he wanted, &c.

The gunboat Pembina captured the sloop Eliza Beckwith, from Havana, while trying to run the blockade at Mobile with an assorted cargo.

On the 24th ult., the same vessel captured the schooner Joe Flanner, while trying to run the blockade at Mobile. She had an assorted cargo.

The U. S. steamer Monticello, on the 25th ult., captured off Settle River Inlet, N. C., the schooner Odd Fellow, loaded with resin, turpentine, &c.

THE CONTRABAND TRADE THROUGH TEXAS.

Information continues to be received in this city that very much trade is still carried on at Matamoras and other ports on the Rio Grande, for the benefit of the rebels. Some time ago, an officer of the Government in that quarter mentioned the fact that the papers of suspicious vessels had been examined, but they all appeared in proper form and issued from Mexican Custom-houses. He, therefore, could take no action in the premises. There is no doubt that much contraband trade is carried on under false pretences, the vessels of various European nations participating in the Rio Grande. The trade is so extensive that our vessels can do but little to prevent it.

THE COUNTERFEITING OF GREENBACKS.

A Government agent went out in a recent European steamer, on business connected with the counterfeiting of United States notes in England.

ARRESTS OF DISLOYALISTS.

The Government seems to be more energetic than heretofore against disloyalists. Arrests are frequently made, and the prisoners are confined in the Old Capitol Prison.

THE THIRTY-FIRST NEW-YORK.

The Thirty-first New-York regiment will return to that City on Sunday, from the Rappahannock. It was organized under Col. PRATT, and has been in all the battles with the Army of the Potomac, excepting Williamsburgh and the second Bull Run. When Col. PRATT was promoted to be a Brigadier-General, the Adjutant, FRANK JONES, was appointed Colonel, and it was he who led them in the late attack and capture of Marye's Heights, Fredericksburgh. The regiment formerly numbered 1,000, and now about 300 privates.

AMUSEMENTS.

FALLON'S STEREOPTICON.—The exhibition of this magnificent exponent of natural beauty and artistic attainment is continued, during this week only, at the Brooklyn Atheneum for the benefit of the Central Sunday School. Mr. ROSE, the lecturer, a gentleman fitted for the arduous task of intelligently describing the multitude of views presented, has, by long residence in Europe and perfect familiarity with the originals of these pictures, become absolutely au fait in the work, and renders the exhibition doubly entertaining and instructive by his narrations of fact and descriptions of scenery. The exhibition in Brooklyn is a success which, if transferred to New-York, would become a fortune. This and to-morrow are the closing days in Brooklyn.

ITALIAN OPERA.—A grand matinée will be given to-morrow (Saturday) at 1 o'clock, for the benefit of the celebrated baritone, Signor BELLINI, when the entire opera of "Ione" will be given, with its superb cast, including Mme. GUERRABELLA, MAZZOLENI, SULZER, BELLINI, and BIACHI, besides other entertainments. This will be the last opportunity of hearing this great company.

BENEFIT OF MR. J. S. CLARKE, AT WINTER GARDEN.—This evening this popular artist takes his farewell benefit, appearing in three of his best and funniest characters, as Jack Humphries, Brown the Broker, and the immortal Toodles, thus offering, in its broadest sense, an evening of merriment.

Miss Dickinson To-night.

Miss ANNA DICKINSON, the young orator, whose gifts of eloquence cannot be gainsaved, will speak to-night, at the Brooklyn Academy of Music, on the subject of "How Providence is Teaching the Nation." Every arrangement for the comfort and convenience of a vast audience has been made, and, doubtless, the young lady will be enthusiastically greeted.

We will state in this connection, in justice to the Directors of the Academy, that the report in general circulation, concerning illiberality of treatment toward Miss DICKINSON is essentially incorrect. They have never refused the use of the Academy to Miss DICKINSON, on the ground that she was "a woman speaking for liberty," and the only action of which there can be the least complaint, was that of an individual member of the renting Committee, who, misunderstanding the tenor of a resolution directing certain precautions in regard to political meetings, declined to rent it for the purpose referred to.

No men in the City of Brooklyn are more public-spirited, far-sighted or liberal than they who manage the affairs of the Academy, and though they differ in political and religious opinions, they are united in the resolve to grant a hearing to all men of whatever sentiments, who, in an honest manner, attempt to convince their fellow-citizens of the soundness of this or the other doctrine, or desire in a respectful way to protest against this or that grievance, real or fancied.

Aid for Poland.

At a meeting of ladies held on the 19th inst., at the residence of Mrs. Dr. CRANE, No. 31 West Twenty-first-street, to consult upon the best method of organizing a committee to be called "The American Ladies' Committee," to raise funds in aid of the victims of the present struggle in Poland, another meeting was called, as follows:

A meeting of ladies interested in the cause of Poland is solicited, to be held at the school-house of the Church of Transfiguration, No. 1 East Twenty-ninth-street, on Saturday, May 30, at 11½ o'clock A. M. A full attendance is respectfully requested.

An able explanatory address, prepared by one of the ladies present, was then presented, of which we have only room for the main points.

LADIES: We meet this morning to ascertain what aid it will be possible for us to render Poland, in this her hour of mighty struggle of patriotic and almost universal suffering. Fortunately for the indulgence of our just sympathies, there is no reason we should check their expression for the victims of these hours of national anguish. There can be no danger here of political complications and hidden entanglements. We are not to act as the representatives of any paty, of any nationality, but as private individuals, anxious to alleviate pain, to render aid in an undoubtedly righteous cause. We have no wish to harm Russia: she has given evidence of friendship to us too often to allow us to regard her with a single feeling of ill-will, but we are women, the cause of humanity is our sacred trust, and through us it must ultimately prevail.

Before we were an independent nation this sad Polish struggle had already commenced, and every people of Europe, save those immediately interested in the robbery, have pronounced upon the wickedness of the spoliation of Poland, and, sooner or later, justice must be done to the injured.

Let no one weakly attempt to confound the uprising of this nation with the rebellion now raging in the Southern United States. The principles involved in the two cases are so radically different as to stand in utter startling opposition. In Poland the struggle is to restore legitimate authority to its rightful holders—a Government truly Polish: while our revolted States seek to wrest that authority from its legally elected rulers, the President and Congress of the United States. The resurrection of Poland means Union—life. The rebellion means division—death. One means love of country; the other—alas!—hate.

It is for our sisters in their long sorrows; for the noble victims in the fierce struggle now waging, that we ask aid and sympathy. For Poland seeks order, not anarchy; organization, not disruption; life, not vengeance or death, and so she fearlessly appeals to Christian women of every country. And at this very hour her anguish is fighting in our own just cause, for, strange and sublime moral spectacle, as the martyred victim rises from the grave and peals the tocsin in the awaiting ear of her own children, her old and wild battle-cry assures the victory of freedom upon our own soil, and all the long dreaded foreign intervention in favor of our revolted States has become impossible. Penance for their "long Remorse, the Burial of Poland," will give the nations of Europe enough to do at home. Slavery and despotism are everywhere doomed! Poland forgives her enemies, and the Resurrection of the Christ of nations is fraught with blessings to humanity! Switzerland, Sweden, Italy, France, sympathize in her cause. England remonstrates with her enemies, and the ladies of England are moving in her behalf.

Mothers, wives, sisters, and daughters of the free, we call upon you for deep sympathy, for generous aid for the prisoned, exiled, suffering victims of patriotism in Poland. Ah! let the miseries of our own present struggle, the sighs and tears of our own widows and orphans, teach us to feel for our widowed and orphaned sisters in that unhappy land: let us confide in the dictates of our own hearts, listen to their true and generous instincts, and act in accordance with their sacred promptings!

In order that those whose hearts respond to an appeal so calculated to awaken sympathy and achieve success, may be enabled to act with concert and effect, the present means have been adopted to draw together the friends of Poland, that they may enroll their names, either as working members of the Committee we seek to organize to raise funds, or as contributors to that fund. The purpose, then, of this meeting, is to obtain from the ladies the names of those who design to take part in this effort to aid a noble and much-wronged nation, those names to be classified under two heads.

1. Those who desire not only to contribute, but also to become members of a Ladies' Committee. From among those who thus enter their names, a President, Vice-President, Treasurer, Secretary, and working Committee will be chosen by vote after the last meeting called, as this has been to-day, to ascertain the number of those desirous to act in the cause.

2. Those who wish to contribute in the aid of the funds money, which will be paid, as soon as the Ladies' Committee is properly organized and authorized to receive and pay over the money so subscribed, into the hands of Messrs. GEBHARDT & SUCHARD, Bankers, No. 21 Nassau-street.

OBITUARY.—Dr. JOHN CLAWSON KELLEY, was a well-known resident of this City, in which he has resided, with but little interruption, for the last half century. He was born in the township of Solebury, Bucks County, Penn., on the 15th day of September, 1793, and was therefore in the 70th year of his age. From his father he inherited those noble principles which so clearly animated the patriots of the Revolution, and which at the present day find a ready response in the hearts of all loyal Unionists. His mother was a member of the Society of Friends. Perhaps there are few men more closely connected with the history of this City, or esteemed by a wider circle of warm and ardent friends, than the deceased. He built and occupied almost the first house on Murray Hill, and thus became pioneer, as it were, in improving one of the most valuable portions of the City. His practice as a physician was very extensive, and was based on a thorough conviction of the truths of the medical system he adopted. He was the founder of what has for a number of years been widely known as the Analytical System of Medicine, which in his hands appears to have been eminently successful. Dr. Kelley was one of the world's self-made men; he was exceedingly fond of argument and debate on medical and theological points; and when thus engaged, he would throw upon the subject the light of a clear, steady and vigorous intellect, pursuing a nice line of argument, and embellishing it with a munificence of illustration, which, if not always convincing, was ever strong and pleasing. He was an excellent lecturer on medical subjects, and had a thorough knowledge of the Materia Medica, Physiology and Pathology, and was, beside, author of the work known among medical men as the "Key to Medical Science." In person, Dr. Kelley was a portly man, with a broad forehead, blue eyes, and round, full, benevolent-looking face. He dressed plainly, conversed eloquently, and exhibited that force of character which enabled him to master every obstruction that impeded his progress. He was also a man of ripe experience and extensive reading, and possessed the gift of words, combined with a commanding person. There are few of our prominent men whose death will appear more regretted, and for whom a larger and stronger tide of sympathy and esteem exists. "He hath not lived in vain."

NEW-YORK, May 21, 1863.

TO THE PRINTERS OF THE UNITED STATES.—The printers of New-York, fearing that our fellow-craftsmen throughout the country may be misled by various statements which have appeared in New-York newspapers, would respectfully call your attention to the following statement:

Finding that it was necessary to ask for an increase of wages, to meet partially the general rise in the necessaries of life, the New-York printers gave notice to the employers on Tuesday, the 6th inst., that at the end of that week they would expect that the increase which they had fixed upon would be paid them for their labor. The justness of the request was very generally acknowledged by the employers, and the increase has been paid by the great majority of them since the time named for its going into operation. As usual, however, on all such occasions, a minority of the employers have not acceded to the request of their employes, and in consequence thereof the men have been compelled to "strike." In some cases they have been successful, while in others they have been unsuccessful as yet.

In certain newspapers of this City, advertisements have been published, and even editorials printed, stating that, owing to various causes, compositors are in great demand, and that there are not enough of them in this City to supply such demand, and calling upon other places to send compositors here. This statement is very wide of the truth. There a great many compositors unemployed at present in this City; but they will not work at prices less than those fixed upon by the trade. You are, therefore, fellow-craftsmen, apprised of the facts, so that you may not be led by truthless statements to come to this City expecting to receive honorable employment. Printers coming from other places at the present time will not be received by their craftsmen of this City with favor; and any employer who may engage them will certainly not respect them.

From the friends of remunerative labor, no matter what their calling, we ask the aid of their kind word, and the benefit of their assistance in giving the widest possible publicity to this plain statement of facts.

"IN HOC VINCES."
ROMAINE'S CRIMEAN BITTERS.

The following certificate from those well-known and eminent chemists, Drs. J. R. Chilton and J. G. Pohle, will show in what estimation it is held by those most competent to judge of its merits:

CERTIFICATE.
NEW-YORK, Feb. 14, 1863.

From a knowledge of the ingredients and their proportions entering into the composition known as "Romaine's Crimean Bitters," we are enabled to speak of it in terms of high recommendation. Peruvian bark being one of its principal constituents, together with herbs, roots and extracts having decided medicinal properties, we have no hesitation in recommending it to physicians and the public generally, as an invigorating tonic, intended to stimulate the digestive organs.

From its alterative properties it is calculated to prevent, by its daily use, in moderate quantities, constipation, fever and ague, mild forms of neuralgia and rheumatism. It is an antidote to the effects produced by change of water and diet, correcting diarrhœa, curing dyspepsia, colic, sick and nervous headache, nausea, seasickness. It is expressly adapted to females of delicate constitutions and the infirmities of age.

This preparation is composed exclusively of vegetable materials, containing no metallic or mineral substances whatever. Its taste is aromatic, warming and acceptable to the palate and stomach.

MAGNIFICENT COLLECTION OF MODERN PICTURES.

HENRY H. LEEDS & CO. will sell at auction, on THURSDAY and FRIDAY EVENINGS, May 21 and 22, at 7½ o'clock each evening, at the Dusseldorf Gallery, No. 548 Broadway, over Dr. Chapin's Church—

MAGNIFICENT COLLECTION OF MODERN PICTURES,

Being the richest and most costly assemblage of works of art we have probably ever had the pleasure of offering, consisting of ORIGINAL specimens by artists of distinction in various countries, selected by a gentleman favorably known in the art world for the last thirty years, and of which a large portion were purchased when in Europe from the exhibitions of the seasons of 1848, 1850, 1856, 1857 and 1860, and others painted to order for the collection.

The Gallery contains the productions of several artists of whom examples, owing to their rarity and high cost, have never before been offered here, among which will be found the chef d'œuvre of Florent Willems, "Lamour et la Fidelite," one of the most beautiful specimens of pre-Raffaelite art.

A "Breton Interior," the prize picture of Theodore de Heuvel. The "Hamlet," by Hamman, the finest known picture of Van de Sander Bakhuyzen, (recently deceased at the Hague,) called the "Forest Side," and to which Verboeckhoven added the figures. A cabinet specimen by Adolf Dillens, &c.

The Dusseldorf School is represented by a rare work by the inimitable fruit painter, Preyer; also, by paintings of Leutze, Vautier, Camphausen, Boettcher, Forster, Meyerheim, Hagelstein, Zimmerman, &c., &c.

The French School by examples of Compte, Calix, F. Willems, Fauvelt, Tesson, Veron, Pecrus, Lanfout de Metz, Philipeau, Cerier, &c.

The Dutch School by numerous specimens by Schelfhout, Verschuur, Louis Meyer, Van Grootveldt, Eversen, Koek Koek, Terlack, Van Hove, Van Moer, Spokler, Bakhuyzen, Reyntjens, Walraven, Kruseman, Leickert, Riegens, Vaarberg, Akkersdyke, Bilders of Utrecht, Verveer Scheeres, Ten Katen, Herrebart, Rosenboom, &c.

Among the Belgian artists represented are Verboeckhoven, (two specimens of the first class,) Hamman, Raffaien, Dillens, Mme. Ronner, Mme. Senezcourt, De Noter, Robbe de Beul, Serrure, De Heuvel, Von Seben, Verwee, Smets, Berthing, Correns, Wauters, De Jonghe, Maswyn, Vidal, Janssens, &c.

The English portion of the collection is unusually rich in specimens of great beauty (many of them exhibition pictures) by Sidney R. Percy, H. J. Boddington, Baxter, Cobbett, Passmore, George Cole, Armfield, Newell, Burt, E. C. Williams, Walter Williams, Pelham, Shayer, Pinton, Barland, Beattie, Charles Dukes, E. C. Barnes, &c., &c.

Also, several rare examples by American artists, including "Washington Crossing the Delaware," by E. Leutze, being the second and smaller picture of the subject, and the one from which the fine engraving was taken in 1856, Cropsey, Gignoux, Sully, Hays, Tait, Eastman, Johnson, G. C. Lambdin, Shattuck, Bingham and Sontag.

Together with several choice pieces of marble statuary.

They are now on exhibition as above, free, with catalogue, and we would recommend lovers of the fine arts to pay an early visit to the collection, the opportunity for examining it at their leisure being then probably more favorable than toward the close of the exhibition, when the rooms are more crowded.

FINANCIAL.

LAKE ERIE AND PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY.

FIRST MORTGAGE SINKING FUND BONDS.

The Lake Erie and Pacific Railroad Company, in the State of Indiana, now offer for sale their entire issue of $890,000 First, and only, Mortgage Bonds, bearing seven per cent. interest, payable semi-annually in the City of New-York.

These bonds are secured by a DEED OF TRUST, constituting the FIRST and ONLY lien upon the entire Road, its franchises, appurtenances, rolling stock, &c.

Its route is along the White Water Valley, from Rushville to Union, a distance of about sixty miles, and passes through the richest, best cultivated and most densely populated portion of the State of Indiana.

The road is the CENTRAL SECTION of the otherwise completed TRUNK LINE, connecting the great Southwest at LOUISVILLE, Ky., on the Ohio River, and at an early day with TOLEDO and SANDUSKY, on Lake Erie.

The Company is wholly without debt (except its bonded debt) and being strong in its local traffic, and connecting with roads that must necessarily largely increase the volume of its revenues, the BOARD OF DIRECTORS, with great confidence, invite the attention of capitalists to these securities, believing that they offer an opportunity for a first-class railroad investment, than which, in their judgment, there is no better to be had.

The published exhibits of the Company, together with a map showing the locality and advantages of the Road, can be had from either of the Trustees of the Deed of Trust, in this City, named below, and from either of whom the bonds are only to be had.

DR. TH ERS,

Treatment regular and scientific.

PRIVATE DISEASES CURED IN THE shortest possible time, by Dr. WARD & CO., No. 50 Lispenard-st., near Broadway, without the use of Mercury, loss of time or change of diet. Dr. WARD, from the hospitals of London, Paris and Edinburgh, is the discoverer of the only certain and reliable remedies for diseases of a private character. In 25 years' practice he has cured more cases of Secret Diseases and Wrong Treatment than all others combined. I can and will cure you in less time and expense than any one can or will, and those who have been robbed of their money and health, call; it will take but little money and time to restore you. If you have been unfortunate, call at once. By his special experience in this much neglected branch of medical science, he is enabled to guarantee a cure in the most complicated cases. Recent cases of Gonorrhœa or Syphilis cured in a few days, without change of diet or hindrance from business. Secondary Syphilis—the last vestige eradicated without the use of Mercury. Involuntary emissions stopped in a short time. Sufferers from Impotency, or loss of sexual power, restored to full vigor in a few weeks. Permanently and speedily cured by a new treatment. Persons at a distance failing to receive prompt treatment elsewhere, may get a permanent cure effected by writing a full diagnosis of their case, addressed to Dr. WARD, No. 50 Lispenard-st., the only place. Call, send or write.

SURE CURE—BY DR. POWERS, SUCCESSfully consulted with Dr. WARD, No. 50 Lispenard-st. Conducted on the plan of the Hospital des Veneriens, Paris, where those afflicted with any form of private disease can receive prompt treatment, without risk or exposure, viz.: Syphilis, gonorrhœa, gleet, strictures, ulcers, tumors, cancers, secondary and constitutional syphilis, diseases of the kidneys, &c., &c. Thirty years of extensive practice, exclusively devoted to the treatment of those complaints enable us to effect cures in cases where others of less experience have failed. Dr. Powers' Essence of Life restores the vigor of youth in four weeks. This marvelous agent restores manhood to the most shattered constitution—physical disqualifications, impediments to marriage, thereby speedily cured. The men to consult, Drs. Ward and Powers, the champions and kings of venereal diseases, possessing the most certain, speedy and only effectual remedies in the world, guarantee a perfect cure, or no charge, in from one to three days. Established in 1840. N. B.—Those who have used their preventives are never without. Send for a circular. To Ladies.—Dr. Powers' Periodical Drops are a safe and certain remedy for monthly irregularities. The above remedies sent by mail. The afflicted should read their circular. Postage free, on receipt of a stamp. Cures warranted.

DRS. TRALL & JACKSON'S "PATHOLOGY OF THE REPRODUCTIVE ORGANS."—"This is really a scientific work of great practical value. All other works on the subjects discussed in this volume, that have fallen under our observation, are addressed mainly to a prurient taste, and are positively pernicious."—Chicago Tribune. "This volume is full of scientific information of incalculable benefit in the cure of disease."—New-Bedford Mercury. "It is unquestionably the most complete, the most sensible and the most valuable work of its kind yet published."—The New-Yorker. "It offers judicious advice to suffering humanity, which will save thousands from complicating their afflictions by resorting to quack doctors and empirical treatment."—Boston Journal. "It is the only work in existence containing directions which will positively CURE that distressing disease termed spermatorrhœa, and other sexual diseases which cause so much misery to the human family."—Boston Express.

SOMETHING FOR EVERY LADY.—DR. WARD'S Great Female Benefactor or Golden Regulating Pills. Infallible in correcting, regulating and removing all obstructions, from whatever cause, and they will never disappoint the anxious patient. Office No. 50 Lispenard-st., near Broadway, where Dr. WARD can be consulted, confidentially, day and evening.

PRIVATE CONSULTATION.—DR. HUNTER has, for thirty years, confined his attention to diseases of a certain class, in which he has treated no less than fifty thousand cases, without an instance of failure. His great remedy, HUNTER'S RED DROP, cures certain diseases, when regular treatment and all other remedies fail; cures without dieting or restriction in the habits of the patient; cures without the disgusting and sickening effects of all other remedies; cures in new cases in less than six hours; cures without the dreadful consequent effects of mercury, but possesses the peculiarly valuable property of annihilating the rank and poisonous taint that the blood is sure to absorb, unless his remedy is used. That is what he claims for it, and what no other will accomplish. Its value in this respect has become so well known, that scientific men in every department of medical knowledge begin to appreciate it, for hardly a week passes that he is not consulted by druggists, chemists and physicians, in regard to some pitiful patient who has exhausted the whole field of the faculty, and still the disease will appear. Its popularity is so great, that there is not a quack doctor in the City that has not attacked it; and when they find their lies are not so easily swallowed, they then pretend that they can make it. It is $1 a vial, and cannot be obtained genuine anywhere but at the old office, No. 3 Division-st. Book for 15 three-cent stamps, 300 pages, 100 colored illustrations. The best work out.

ONE DAY LATER FROM EUROPE.

The North American off Father Point.

No New Developments Regarding the American Question.

Russia Disposed to Submit to a Conference on Poland.

Progress of the Revolution.

FATHER POINT, Thursday, May 21.

The steamer North American, from Liverpool 7th, via Londonderry 8th, arrived off this Point, en route to Quebec, to-day.

The steamers Louisiana and British Queen, from New-York, arrived out on the 8th.

In the House of Commons, on the 6th, two bills intended to compromise the vexed question of Church rates were debated and both rejected.

The race for the Chester cup was won by Sir JOSEPH HAWLEY'S Asteroid. Haddington was second, and Gardener third.

The Paris Bourse on the 6th was dull and lower. Rentes, 69f. 70c.

The Paris correspondent of the Morning Post says: "There is every reason to suppose that Russia, if invited, will submit to a Conference on Poland. NAPOLEON is said to have received assurances from the Czar on this point."

The Journal de St. Petersburgh publishes dispatches from the Swedish, Spanish, and Italian Governments, all relating to the Polish question, with the respective replies of Russia. The Swedish note relies above all upon the principles of humanity and generosity, by which it is persuaded the Emperor of Russia is actuated, and expresses the conviction that words of clemency and forgiveness, with the prospect of a rule of sagacious liberty, will suffice for the complete restoration of tranquility and order. The reply to the Swedish note refers to the note to the three Western Powers.

The Spanish note deeply regrets the impatience of the Poles, who have been unable to await the continuation of the system of concession already granted. Having seen by experience that moderation allays popular agitation more usefully than severity, the Queen asks that indulgence may be shown toward the vanquished.

The reply to this note thanks the Spanish Governments.

The note of the Italian Government is drawn up in a conciliatory manner, and hopes the Russian Court will see from the spirit of the dispatch proof of the desire of the Italian Government to reunion on the most friendly footing, and that entire confidence may continue to exist between them. The Emperor, in reply to this note, mentions the pleasure with which he received the friendly expressions, and continues:

> "As regards the welfare of Poland the Italian Government is not unaware that revolutionary efforts impose difficult tasks upon the ruling Powers the Government will try to arrange the question upon a basis of lasting peace."

On the 2d, the insurgents, under ZICZANOWSKI, were defeated near Binzluo. ZICZANOWSKI was wounded. The insurgents, under FRANCZE, had been dispersed a short distance from the Galecian frontier.

The Austrians have received fifty fugitive insurgents, six wagon loads of arms, and two pieces of cannon.

Four thousand Bashi Bazouks, deserters from the Greek faith armed by the Russian Government in the neighborhood of Dunnabourg, were devastating Lavonia with fire and sword. Shocking atrocities had been committed.

Six hundred Russians were repulsed by MINIEWSKI at Oikuz, in the Government of Radoin, on the 5th.

Another Ottoman Cotton Company is announced with the object to extend the cultivation in Thessaly and Macedonia. Influential Manchester men comprise the Board.

Bombay letters of April 13 and Calcutta April 4 have been received. News anticipated.

Supposed Wife Murder in Twenty-sixth-st.

Coroner WILDEY held an inquest, yesterday, at the Eighteenth Precinct Station-house, upon the body of Mrs. MARGARET BARRY, a native of Ireland, aged about forty years. She resided in the rear of No. 120 East Twenty-sixth-st., with her husband. About 12 o'clock yesterday morning two of her neighbors, who resided in the same building, found Mrs. BARRY dead in her bed. I appears from the post-mortem examination, which was made by Dr. BOUTON, that there were several serious bruises upon her head and face, which had evidently been inflicted by some heavy blunt instrument. The neighbors testified that JAMES BARRY, the husband of deceased, was very dissipated, and was nightly in the habit of returning home drunk, and when in that state he would kick and beat her most unmercifully. The last time that any of the neighbors knew of her having been beaten by him, was late on Tuesday night last. At that time witnesses heard the blows and the quarrel which was going on between them. The wife was somewhat addicted to drinking. At the conclusion of the testimony, the jury rendered a verdict "That the deceased came to her death from exhaustion by disease, accelerated by violence at the hands of her husband, JAMES BARRY." The latter was arrested by Officer SIMS, of the Eighteenth Precinct, and the Coroner committed him to the Tombs to await the action of the Grand Jury.

FROM THE REBEL STATES.

Speculation Regarding Affairs in Mississippi.

VIEWS OF VALLANDIGHAM'S ARREST.

MISCELLANEOUS NEWS.

The Richmond Sentinel of May 18 has the following interesting paragraphs:

The War.

For several days there have been rumors here that Jackson, Miss., had been evacuated by our troops, and occupied by the enemy. Up to yesterday evening there had been no official confirmation of the report, nor had the agents of the Press Association sent us the intelligence.

With our present sources of information, we are inclined to believe that the report is true. But we are not at all prepared to weigh the significance of the act, if it be true. An article which we copy to-day, from a Mississippi paper, will show that the possibility of a successful dash upon Jackson by the enemy has been understood by our people, and the important records, &c., accordingly removed.

If, instead of a flying party of this sort, GRANT'S army had been allowed to take possession, as is said, with but small resistance, it may have been to seduce him further way from the Mississippi River, whence he draws his supplies. But it is idle to speculate in the absence of all data. Nothing remains but to hope for the best while waiting for the news.

Vallandigham's Arrest.

The effect which VALLANDIGHAM'S arrest and sentence will produce on the popular mind at the North is now a matter of conjecture. The New-York Herald, we believe, says it will insure his election as Governor of Ohio by 30,000 majority. But if the people there submit to see their candidate abducted, nothing remains but for LINCOLN'S satrap to issue an order that no man shall vote for him, and to place a musket or two at the polls. Besides, who would want a Governor who would have to live at Tortugas?

We suppose that VALLANDIGHAM and his friends will exhaust all the agencies which the Courts of law may afford to disappoint LINCOLN of his prey; and that the pressure of public opinion will be invoked as far as practicable. These appliances failing, and the people submitting to see VALLANDIGHAM borne away, it is idle to talk about their having any spirit left whatever. The trembling Chinaman prostrates himself not more submissively before the "celestial" sovereign who eats rice with chopsticks, than will they henceforth before the majestic ABRAHAM, the joker. They will scarcely pretend to be free any longer.

From the Richmond Dispatch.

The arrest of that brave and able defender of Constitutional rights at the North—C. L. VALLANDIGHAM—is an event which ought to lead to some great consequences. Whether it will or not remains to be seen. It may be that the small riots, (so soon suppressed,) the arrest of a number of VALLANDIGHAM'S friends, together with the extinction of the newspaper at Dayton, called the Empire, of which Mr. V. was the editor, is to end the matter. It it stops just there, then, indeed, the Northern people are under the control of a despotism unsurpassed for its efficiency. Mr. Vallandigham was a candidate for the office of Governor of Ohio, and was receiving evidences from popular demonstrations which justified the hope of his election. It may be inferred that the step taken by the Government was prompted by the fact. For a long time it has discontinued the arrests of citizens of the North on suspicion of disloyalty, or for words uttered. VALLANDIGHAM never has ceased to declare his horror of the Lincoln despotism, and to denounce its usurpations of power. But even when LINCOLN was arresting thousands, and filling his prisons, he would not put his hands on the fearless Congressman from Ohio. Therefore his arrest at this time betrays a sense of exigency not before entertained.

Whether or no the people agreeing with VALLANDIGHAM will tamely contemplate his imprisonment—will uncomplainingly and inactively acquiesce in the arrest of their great leader and hundreds of others of their fellow-citizens—time must disclose. Certainly he is not the leader of a small party—certainly the wave agitated by his powerful intellect was no small one—and it would indeed be strange if the scenes depicted by the last arrival from the North should be the last of them all. The great reverses of the Federalists at the Wilderness and Fredericksburgh may give some encouragement to the opposition and elicit some further evidence of its vitality. All we can say is, that if, after the demonstrations we have heard of at the North, there be a universal submission there to the atrocious despotism at Washington, then the Northern people are not fit for free institutions, and should not be allowed to enjoy them.

Gen. Rodes.

From the Lynchburgh Republican.

We are pleased to learn that the able and intrepid young Brigadier, ROBERT E. RODES, of Alabama, has been promoted to Major-General, for gallantry and good conduct in the battle of Chancellorsville, and in recognition of his uniform skill and courage on every field. The promotion was worthily bestowed, because well merited

The Battles on the Rappahannock.

The correspondent of the Richmond Enquirer, writing from Fredericksburgh under date of Wednesday last, says:

It cannot be denied that we allowed the enemy to get off too easily. His whole force ought to have been captured, or rather that which crossed at Banks' Ford. Why the failure to cut off and capture a larger number than were brought in, it is not in my power to decide. I believe Gen. LEE expected a more brilliant result. It was no fault of his that there was a failure at any point; and whilst the credit belongs in common to LEE and JACKSON, up to the ill-fated hour when JACKSON received his wound, it is but just to say that after that period the whole credit belonged to Gen. LEE, not only for planning, but for being in convenient distance, and watching with his own eye to the execution, in so far as he could make it successful. The enemy ought to have been attacked at 2 o'clock on Monday evening, May 4. The reason, however, which deferred it until 6 is not proper, in the judgment of your correspondent, to be communicated. When, in an afterday, history writes the reason, its sufficiency will be readily acknowledged.

Just here, let me urge upon the newspapers, as the organs of public opinion, to insist that Gen. LEE shall never hereafter again expose his valuable life to the missiles of death. It is unnecessary; and now that JACKSON has fallen, this, our great hero and chieftain, owes it to us, if not to himself, to be where the shock of battle cannot reach. Ten thousand, or even one hundred thousand men slain in battle might be replaced, but if Gen. LEE should fall, who could take his place? Echo answers who!

I have passed over the whole battle-ground since the fight. It reached from Deep Run—indeed, it may be said to extend from Hamilton's Crossing, five miles below Fredericksburgh, where the artillery duelling between our batteries and those of the enemy first occurred—up to Fredericksburgh, and from the town up as far Wilderness, fifteen miles above. The country above where the main fighting took place, has been described by Gen. LEE as "a tangled wilderness," and yet this section of densely wooded land, covered with the closest undergrowth ever seen, has been literally cleared by the grape, canister, schrapnel and solid shot which for so many days rained through it. Everything betokens the severity of the fight, and attests the courage and invincibility of the victors.

The fortifications are on the most extensive scale, and fronted in every direction. HOOKER'S plans seem to have been to ditch to Richmond. His idea was to fortify himself in a position somewhat in the form of a square at Chancellorsville, whilst SEDGWICK crossed below at Fredericksburgh, turned our right wing, and seized the railway at Hamilton's Crossing. STONEMAN'S part in the programme meantime was evidently to create a panic, if possible, in our rear, cut the railroad communication, and so cripple LEE for supplies as to secure HOOKER a bloodless victory. This a Yankee surgeon narrated to me as the "plan." He frankly confessed, however, that HOOKER had been out-generaled and whipped by the "first captain of the age"—Gen. LEE.

A New Route Out of Texas.

The Montgomery (Alabama) Advertiser of May 5, has the following:

"We were gratified to meet in our office yesterday Col. JOHN G. GOODE, just from the Lone Star State. The account he gives of affairs in Texas is truly cheering and gratifying. He says the wheat crop was never, in the history of the State, as prosperous and large as the present year. The great care is that there will not be a sufficient force at home to gather the whole crop. To this end, Gen. MAGRUDER, with his usual quick foresight, has requested all emigrants into Texas, this Spring, to repair at once, with their working forces, to the grain-growing districts, and assist in reaping the harvest. The corn crop is also large and in excellent order, with every prospect of a bountiful yield. He thinks the extravagant prices of the speculators in that State will soon be forced to yield to the pressure of an abundant harvest.

The steamer on which the Colonel came forward was by a new route, one that has not been navigated for fifteen or twenty years. By this channel he brought out of Texas an immense amount of bacon and other supplies for Gen. PEMBERTON'S army.

Col. GOODE, in addition to the fine grain prospects, speaks confidently of there being a supply of all kinds of provisions in Texas, large enough to supply that State, Louisiana, Arkansas and Mississippi, and go far toward feeding the people and armies of the other Confederate States."

EQUAL TO
HOSTETTER'S BITTERS.

THE PERILS OF THE SEASON
AND
HOW TO AVOID THEM.

It is of infinite importance to the public to know that
HOSTETTER'S
STOMACH BITTERS
prevent, relieve and cure the complaints most prevalent in this climate during the SPRING OF THE YEAR.

Their preventive operation is simple. Acting directly upon the stomach, and through the stomach upon the liver, the bowels, the circulation, and the nervous system, they impart to the whole organization a degree of vigor and elasticity which enables us to resist the unhealthy atmospheric influences, by which so many distressing maladies are produced and prolonged. The great predisposing cause of sickness is CONSTITUTIONAL and PHYSICAL DEBILITY. Disease, like a coward, generally assails the feeble, and turns aside from the strong. And this is especially true of the forms of disease which prevail at the breaking up of Winter. The first warm days of the Spring sun seem to thaw out from the frozen earth the elements of innumerable ailments. The miasma which the frost had hermetically sealed up, is let loose in clouds of vapor, and Fever and Ague, Bilious Remittent Fevers, Indigestion, Liver Complaint, Diphtheria, Rheumatism, Bilious Colic, Asthma, Coughs, Colds, Physical and Mental Depression, and a low and feeble condition of all the vital functions, are among the most common consequences of the great Spring thaw which fills the air with unwholesome damps. Fortify in advance against these prostrating and destructive agencies. Iron-plate the system, as it were, by resorting to a pure tonic and alterative, which will bring every organ and fibre of the frame into the best possible state for resisting the flying arrows of disease, which the fogs and winds of March, April and May bear upon their mephitic wings. Remember that HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS are like a strong garrison thrown into a fort before the approach of the enemy. They forearm the citadel of life against the attacks of all maladies that arise from sudden changes of temperature, impure air, privation, exposure, excessive labor, and malarious exhalations. Hence they are
INVALUABLE IN CAMP,
and no military hospital ought to be without a sufficient supply, both for preventive and remedial purposes. Happily the attention of the
has been directed to the subject, and the proprietors of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS congratulate the troops now in arms for the Union on the probability that the ADULTERATED CONTRACT STIMULANTS, at present used as medicines by the army Surgeons, will soon be superseded by the purest and best Tonic, Alterative and Invigorant that has ever been presented to the Faculty in this or any other country. Since the war commenced considerable quantities of the preparation have been forwarded from time to time to field and line officers, both in the Western and Eastern armies, for their own personal use: and letters from some of the most eminent military men in the service attest the extraordinary virtues of the Bitters as a means of sustaining strength and promoting health in the midst of hardship and exposure, and also as a safe stimulant for the wounded. As private citizens, many of the officers of volunteers had proved the hygeian properties of the article, and, therefore, wisely resorted to it as a protective and a remedy, where their health is necessarily in greater peril than it would be in civil life.

Dyspepsia is never so general or so distressing as at this season. The appetite is keener, and is indulged to a greater extent in the Winter than at any other time of the year, and the consequence is, that the functions of the stomach, bowels and liver are over-taxed during the cold weather, and are often in a relaxed and partially torpid condition when Spring arrives. NOW, therefore, this is a time to brace up the digestive and secretive organs for the Summer campaign with HOSTETTER'S BITTERS. To neglect this precaution under such circumstances, is to invite CHRONIC INDIGESTION, the most melancholy and disheartening of all complaints.

As a REMEDY as well as a Preventive, this celebrated medicinal cordial ranks among the most potent preparations of the age. Speculation Regarding Affairs in Mississippi.

VIEWS OF VALLANDIGHAM'S ARREST.

MISCELLANEOUS NEWS.

The Richmond Sentinel of May 18 has the following interesting paragraphs:

The War.

For several days there have been rumors here that Jackson, Miss., had been evacuated by our troops, and occupied by the enemy. Up to yesterday evening there had been no official confirmation of the report, nor had the agents of the Press Association sent us the intelligence.

With our present sources of information, we are inclined to believe that the report is true. But we are not at all prepared to weigh the significance of the act, if it be true. An article which we copy to-day from a Mississippi paper, will show that the [illegible] of a successful raid upon Jackson by the enemy has been understood by our people, and the important records, &c., accordingly removed.

If, instead of a flying party of this sort, GRANT'S army had been allowed to take possession, as it did, with but small resistance, it may have been to seduce him further away from the Mississippi River, whence he draws his supplies. But it is idle to speculate in the absence of all data. Nothing remains but to hope for the best while waiting for the news.

Vallandigham's Arrest.

The effect which VALLANDIGHAM'S arrest and [illegible] will produce on the popular mind at the North is now a matter of conjecture. The New-York Herald, we observe, says it will [illegible] his election as Governor of Ohio by 30,000 majority. But if the people there should see their candidate abducted, nothing would remain but for LINCOLN'S satrap to issue an order forbidding all to vote for him, and to place a musket or two at the polls. Besides, who would want a Governor who would have to live at Tortugas?

We expect that VALLANDIGHAM and his friends will exhaust all the agencies which the Courts of law may afford to dispose of LINCOLN'S [illegible], and that the pressure of public opinion will be invoked as far as practicable. [illegible] and the people submitting to [illegible] tamely, it is idle to talk about their having any spirit left whatever. The [illegible] prostrates itself not more submissively before the [illegible] sovereign [illegible] than will they [illegible] Abraham the Joker. They will scarcely pretend to be free any longer.

From the Richmond Dispatch.

The arrest of that brave and able defender of Constitutional rights at the North—C. L. VALLANDIGHAM—is an event which ought to lead to some great consequences. Whether it will or not remains to be seen. It may be that the [illegible] so soon suppressed, the arrest of a number of VALLANDIGHAM'S friends, together with the extinction of the newspaper at Dayton, called the [illegible], of which Mr. V. was the editor, is to end the matter. If it stops just there, then, indeed, the Western people are under the control of a despotism unsurpassed in its efficiency. Mr. Vallandigham was a candidate for the office of Governor of Ohio, and was receiving evidences from popular demonstrations which justified the hope of his election. It may be inferred that the step taken by the Government was prompted by the fact. For a long time it has continued the arrests of citizens of the North on suspicion of disloyalty, or for words uttered. VALLANDIGHAM never has ceased to declare his horror of the Lincoln despotism, and to denounce its usurpations of power. But even when LINCOLN was arresting thousands, and filling his prisons, he would not put his hands on the fearless Congressman from Ohio. Therefore his arrest at this time betrays a sense of exigency not before entertained.

Whether or no the people agreeing with VALLANDIGHAM will tamely contemplate his imprisonment—will uncomplainingly and inactively acquiesce in the arrest of their great leader and hundreds of others of their fellow-citizens—time must disclose. Certainly he is not the leader of a small party—certainly the wave agitated by his powerful intellect was no small one—and it would indeed be strange if the scenes depicted by the last arrival from the North should be the last of them all. The great reverses of the Federalists at the Wilderness and Fredericksburgh may give some encouragement to the opposition and elicit some further evidence of its vitality. All we can say is, that if, after the demonstrations we have heard of at the North, there be a universal submission there to the atrocious despotism at Washington, then the Northern people are not fit for free institutions, and should not be allowed to enjoy them.

Prisoners.

From the Sentinel.

On Saturday, 382 Yankee prisoners, including 130 officers, captured by FORREST, near Rome, Ga., arrived from the South and were quartered at the Libby Prison. This makes up the whole of FORREST'S prisoners, several hundred having arrived a few days ago. Among the officers are two Colonels, two Lieutenant-Colonels, four Majors, four Surgeons and three Chaplains. The officers and crew of the gunboat Indianola, 100 in number, also arrived on Saturday. There are now at the Libby Prison 242 Yankee officers. Among the tenants of that institution are also 94 deserters from the Abolition army and 26 negroes.

Spirit of the Women.

From the Jackson Appeal.

Among the passengers on the train, yesterday, coming out from Vicksburgh, was a woman, who, from her appearance, was undoubtedly familiar with poverty and acquainted with grief. Accompanying her was her soldier son, some sixteen or seventeen years of age, in somewhat delicate health, who had obtained a furlough at Vicksburgh, and was on his way home to spend a short time with his mother.

On their arrival at Edwards' Depot, and hearing that that point was threatened by the enemy, the mother remarked to her son that he had probably better return to his regiment; that he might be cut off from his command by going on with her; that a critical juncture was upon us, and that his country now needed his services more than ever. As happy as she would be to share his company at home for a few weeks, she told him she would prefer that he should remain at the post of duty until the present crisis was passed over. He accordingly got on the down train and returned to Vicksburgh.

Had the men of our State the courage, patriotism and self-denial of this widowed mother, a Yankee could not remain within the limits of the State twenty-four hours.

The Battles on the Rappahannock.

The correspondent of the Richmond Enquirer, writing from Fredericksburgh under date of Wednesday last, says:

It cannot be denied that we allowed the enemy to get off too easily. His whole force ought to have been captured, or rather that which crossed at Banks' Ford. Why the failure to cut off and capture a larger number than were brought in, it is not in my power to decide. I believe Gen. LEE expected a more brilliant result. It was no fault of his that there was a failure at any point; and whilst the credit belongs in common to LEE and JACKSON, up to the ill-fated hour when JACKSON received his wound, it is but just to say that after that period the whole credit belonged to Gen. LEE, not only for planning, but for being in convenient distance, and watching with his own eye to the execution, in so far as he could make it successful. The enemy ought to have been attacked at 2 o'clock on Monday evening, May 4. The reason, however, which deterred it until 6 is not proper, in the judgment of your correspondent, to be communicated. When, in an afterday, history writes the reason, its sufficiency will be readily acknowledged.

Just here, let me urge upon the newspapers, as the organs of public opinion, to insist that Gen. LEE shall never hereafter again expose his valuable life to the missiles of death. It is unnecessary; and now that JACKSON has fallen, this, our great hero and chieftain, owes it to us, if not to himself, to be where the shock of battle cannot reach. Ten thousand, or even one hundred thousand men slain in battle might be replaced, but if Gen. LEE should fall, who could take his place? Echo answers who!

I have passed over the whole battle-ground since the fight. It reached from Deep Run—indeed, it may be said to extend from Hamilton's Crossing, five miles below Fredericksburgh, where the artillery duelling between our batteries and those of the enemy first occurred—up to Fredericksburgh, and from the town up as far Wilderness, fifteen miles above. The country above where the main fighting took place, has been described by Gen. LEE as "a tangled wilderness," and yet this section of densely wooded land, covered with the closest undergrowth ever seen, has been literally cleared by the grape, canister, schrapnel and solid shot which for so many days rained through it. Everything betokens the severity of the fight, and attests the courage and invincibility of the victors.

The fortifications are on the most extensive scale, and fronted in every direction. HOOKER'S plans seem to have been to ditch to Richmond. His idea was to fortify himself in a position somewhat in the form of a square at Chancellorsville, whilst SEDGWICK crossed below at Fredericksburgh, turned our right wing, and seized the railway at Hamilton's Crossing. STONEMAN'S part in the programme meantime was evidently to create a panic, if possible, in our rear, cut the railroad communication, and so cripple LEE for supplies as to secure HOOKER a bloodless victory. This a Yankee surgeon narrated to me as the "plan." He frankly confessed, however, that HOOKER had been out-generaled and whipped by the "first captain of the age"—Gen. LEE.

Movements of the Federal Forces.

From the Examiner, May 14.

The rumor that HOOKER was crossing the Rappahannock at Port Royal was renewed yesterday with additions. It was said that he had succeeded in throwing over 75,000 men. There is no foundation whatever for the report. The firing heard at Fredericksburgh on Sunday remains unexplained, but it is believed that it was only our pickets firing off their guns to reload. We mentioned yesterday that the Yankees were reported as establishing themselves at the White House. We should have said West Point, a locality on the York River, eighteen miles from the White House, by the line of the York River Railroad, of which it is the eastern terminus. Their object in occupying this point is to establish a rendezvous for their marauders, and perhaps to be in a position to coöperate with HOOKER, should he cross the Rappahannock at Port Royal.

The Rebel Wounded.

From the Examiner.

We have been enabled to ascertain the exact number of our men who were wounded in the last battles about Fredericksburgh. They amount to six thousand one hundred and thirty-eight. Six thousand one hundred have been brought by railroad to this city. The balance remain in hospital near the battle-field. Of those who have been brought hither, the wounds of two thousand are very slight—only sufficient in the majority of cases to enable the sufferers to obtain furloughs.

Our Forces in the Valley.

From the Dispatch, May 15.

The latest advices we have from the Valley represent that the enemy had advanced his forces as high up as [illegible], nine miles below New-Market, in Shenandoah County. Two regiments of infantry, one of cavalry, and a battery of artillery camped at that point on the night of the 6th. Our forces in the valley had fallen back to Harrisonburgh. Another report states that the Yankees have occupied Harrisonburgh, but we think this doubtful.

The Rebel Flag.

From the Dispatch.

The new flag of the Confederate States is a favorite design with one of the greatest leaders of our armies, as will be seen from the following dispatch to Hon. Mr. VILLERE, of Louisiana:

CHARLESTON, S. C., April 21, 1863.

To Hon. C. J. VILLERE: Why change our battle flag consecrated by the best blood of our country on so many battle-fields? A good design for the national flag would be the present battle flag as Union Jack, and the rest all white or all blue.

Col. H. Clay Pate.

The Court Martial which had under consideration the case of Lieut.-Col. H. CLAY PATE, of the Fifth Virginia cavalry, who was charged with mutiny, disobedience of orders, &c., has fully acquitted him, and he has been ordered by the President to rejoin his regiment. Col. ROSSER is the commandant of the Fifth Virginia cavalry. It fought desperately at Kelley's Ford, where its Major (PULLER) was killed. The trial of Lieut.-Col. PATE has been going on for nine months past. It is understood that the evidence in the case will be published in book form.

The Southern Educational Convention.

LETTER FROM JEFF. DAVIS.

At a recent meeting of the Southern Educational Convention, held at Columbia, S. C., the following letter from JEFF. DAVIS was read:

EXECUTIVE OFFICE,
RICHMOND, Va., April 22, 1863.

Messrs. C. M. Wiley, J. D. Campbell and W. J. Palmer, Raleigh, N. C.:

GENTLEMEN: I have the honor to acknowledge your invitation to attend a meeting to be held in Columbia, S. C., to deliberate upon the best method of supplying text books for schools and colleges, and promoting the cause of education in the Confederate States. The object commands my fullest sympathy, and has for many years attracted my earnest attention.

It would be difficult to over-estimate the influence of primary books in the promotion of character and the development of mind. Our form of Government is only adapted to a virtuous and intelligent people, and there can be no more imperative duty of the generation which is passing away, than that of providing for the moral, intellectual and religious culture of those who are to succeed them.

As a general proposition, it may, I think, be safely asserted that all true greatness rests upon virtue, and that religion is in a people the source and support of virtue. The first impressions on the youthful mind are to its subsequent current of thought what the springs are to the river they form, and I rejoice to know that the task of preserving these educational springs in purity has been devolved upon men so qualified to secure the desired result. I have only to regret my inability to meet you, because it deprives me of the pleasure your association would give.

With my best wishes, I am, very respectfully, your fellow-citizen,

JEFFERSON DAVIS.

A New Route Out of Texas.

The Montgomery (Alabama) Advertiser of May 5, has the following:

"We were gratified to meet in our office yesterday Col. JOHN G. GOODE, just from the Lone Star State. The account he gives of affairs in Texas is truly cheering and gratifying. He says the wheat crop was never, in the history of the State, as prosperous and large as the present year. The great care is that there will not be a sufficient force at home to gather the whole crop. To this end, Gen. MAGRUDER, with his usual quick foresight, has requested all emigrants into Texas, this Spring, to repair at once, with their working forces, to the grain-growing districts, and assist in reaping the harvest. The corn crop is also large and in excellent order, with every prospect of a bountiful yield. He thinks the extravagant prices of the speculators in that State will soon be forced to yield to the pressure of an abundant harvest.

The steamer on which the Colonel came forward was by a new route, one that has not been navigated for fifteen or twenty years. By this channel he brought out of Texas an immense amount of bacon and other supplies for Gen. PEMBERTON'S army.

Col. GOODE, in addition to the fine grain prospects, speaks confidently of there being a supply of all kinds of provisions in Texas, large enough to supply that State, Louisiana, Arkansas and Mississippi, and go far toward feeding the people and armies of the other Confederate States."

COUNTERFEIT BILLS.—Counterfeit ones on the Egg Harbor Bank, of Egg Harbor, N. J., were in circulation in South Brooklyn last evening.

Supposed Wife Murder in Twenty-sixth-St

Coroner WILDEY held an inquest, yesterday, at the Eighteenth Precinct Station-house, upon the body of Mrs. MARGARET BARRY, a native of Ireland, aged about forty years. She resided in the rear of No. 120 East Twenty-sixth-st., with her husband. About 10 o'clock yesterday morning two of her neighbors, who resided in the same building, found Mrs. BARRY dead in her bed. It appears from the post-mortem examination, which was made by Dr. BOUTON, that there were several serious bruises upon her head and face, which had evidently been inflicted by some heavy blunt instrument. The neighbors testified that JAMES BARRY, the husband of deceased, was very dissipated, and was nightly in the habit of returning home drunk, and when in that state he would kick and beat her most unmercifully. The last time that any of the neighbors knew of her having been beaten by him, was late on Tuesday night last. At that time witnesses heard the blows and the quarrel which was going on between them. The wife was somewhat addicted to drinking. At the conclusion of the testimony, the jury rendered a verdict "That the deceased came to her death from exhaustion by disease, accelerated by violence at the hands of her husband, JAMES BARRY." The latter was arrested by Officer SIMS, of the Eighteenth Precinct, and the Coroner committed him to the Tombs to await the action of the Grand Jury.

EQUAL TO
HOSTETTER'S BITTERS.
THE PERILS OF THE SEASON
AND
HOW TO AVOID THEM.
It is of infinite importance to the public to know that HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS prevent, relieve and cure the complaints most prevalent in this climate during the SPRING OF THE YEAR.
Their preventive operation is simple. Acting directly upon the stomach, and through the stomach upon the liver, the bowels, the circulation, and the nervous system, they impart to the whole organization a degree of vigor and elasticity which enables it to resist the unhealthy atmospheric influences, to which so many distressing maladies are [illegible]. The great predisposing causes of sickness is CONSTITUTIONAL and PHYSICAL DEBILITY. Disease, like a coward, generally assails the feeble, and turns aside from the strong. And this is especially true of the class of disorders which prevail at the breaking up of Winter. The first warm days of the Spring draw out from the frozen earth the elements of innumerable ailments. The miasma which the frost had hermetically sealed up, is let loose in clouds of vapor, and Fever and Ague, Bilious Remittent Fevers, Indigestion, Liver Complaint, [illegible], Asthma, Coughs, Colds, [illegible] and a low and feeble condition of all the vital functions, are among the most common consequences of the great Spring thaw which fills the air with malarious vapors. [illegible] resorting to a pure tonic and alterative, which will bring every organ and fibre of the frame into the best possible state for resisting the [illegible] of disease which the fogs and winds of March, April and May bear upon their mephitic wings. Remember that HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS are like a strong garrison thrown into a fort before the approach of the enemy. They fortify the citadel of life against the attacks of all maladies that arise from sudden changes of temperature, impure air, privation, exposure, excessive labor, and malarious exhalations. Hence they are
INVALUABLE IN CAMP,
and no military hospital ought to be without a sufficient supply, both for preventive and remedial purposes. Happily the attention of the
has been directed to the subject, and the proprietors of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS congratulate the troops now in arms for the Union on the probability that the ADULTERATED CONTRACT STIMULANTS, at present used as medicines by the army Surgeons, will soon be superseded by the purest and best Tonic, Alterative and Invigorant that has ever been presented to the Faculty in this or any other country. Since the war commenced considerable quantities of the preparation have been forwarded from time to time to field and line officers, both in the Western and Eastern armies, for their own personal use; and letters from some of the most eminent military men in the service attest the extraordinary virtues of the Bitters as a means of sustaining strength and promoting health in the midst of hardship and exposure, and also as a safe stimulant for the wounded. As private citizens, many of the officers of volunteers had proved the hygeian properties of the article, and, therefore, wisely resorted to it as a protective and a remedy, where their health is necessarily in greater peril than it would be in civil life.
Dyspepsia is never so general or so distressing as at this season. The appetite is keener, and is indulged to a greater extent in the Winter than at any other time of the year, and the consequence is, that the functions of the stomach, bowels and liver are over-taxed during the cold weather, and are often in a relaxed and partially torpid condition when Spring arrives. NOW, therefore, this is a time to brace up the digestive and secretive organs for the Summer campaign with HOSTETTER'S BITTERS. To neglect this precaution under such circumstances, is to invite CHRONIC INDIGESTION, the most melancholy and disheartening of all diseases.
As a REMEDY as well as a Preventive, this celebrated medicinal cordial ranks among the most potent preparations of the age. It breaks up intermittent and remittent fevers promptly and [illegible], and is equally efficacious in disorders of the liver and the bowels. For all complaints of the stomach it is as nearly infallible as anything of human origin can be expected to be, and in cases of general weakness it is literally a VITALIZING ELIXIR. Convalescents will find it the safest and best Invigorant and Restorative ever administered to exhausted humanity. It is guaranteed to be absolutely free from all the corrosive elements which enter into the composition of ordinary diffusive stimulants, and its effect upon the nervous system is wonderfully soothing and quieting.
Let those who wish to insure their health for the Summer use HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS as a Spring medicine.
Prepared by HOSTETTER & SMITH, Pittsburgh, Penn.
And sold by all Druggists and Family Grocers.
New-York Office, No. 428 Broadway.
